New Texas Disaster Area Declared As Flood Rages

River Rise Will Force Evacuation

Deweyville Facing Inundation Second Time In Four Years

DALLAS (AP)—A new disaster area was declared on the lower Sabine as the flooding river surged downstream at record heights today, threatening to inundate for the second time in four years the small community of Deweyville.

The 1,000 residents of the Newton County town, 10 miles north of Orange, Tex., were standing by to evacuate if necessary. The town was hit by a flood in 1953.

Heavy Cloudbursts

Heavy cloudbursts soaked the Trinity River watershed in north central Texas, causing flash floods in the Dallas area. A new flood warning was issued for the Trinity as it began a rapid rise.

The rains spread over much of the eastern half of the state in varied amounts, but except for the Sabine and Trinity, the flood threat was easing along other rivers, but water was still high.

Oil Wells Flooded

On the upper Sabine, several hundred oil wells in the petroleum-rich Gladewater area were flooded and shut down as high water crept out around the southwestern edge of town. Officials said, however, they thought the peak crest was passed.

Possibly two drownings were blamed on high waters, making a total of at least 16 since the heavy rains began causing flooding in Texas two weeks ago.

Youth, Horse Drown

Delmer Lee Luke, 17, Burk Burnett, and his horse drowned while swimming in rain-swollen Paradise Creek near Vernon. Ronnie Wyatt, 16, Longview, disappeared while fishing in flood waters of the Sabine south of Longview.

More than 9,000 persons have been forced to flee before rising waters. State disaster headquarters estimate now that more than 35,000 acres of land are flooded.

U. S. Payroll Gains 2,470

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal payroll increased by 2,470 persons in March to a total of 2,392,987. This was reported today by the Senate House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Expenditures.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), the committee chairman, said the major increases were in the Treasury, Post Office, Agriculture, Interior, Commerce, and Health, Education and Welfare departments. He said increases in the Agriculture, Interior and Treasury departments "were largely seasonal."

Because it was a short month, the government payroll dropped to $847,617,000 in February from a record high of more than a billion dollars in January. The committee reported that the payroll for the first eight months since the fiscal year began last July totaled 7 1/2 billion dollars. The monthly average was 936 million.

State Pays $48,000 To Innocent Man

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The State of Illinois has awarded $48,000 to a 52-year-old man for serving 18 years in prison for a crime he did not commit.

Gov. William G. Stratton yesterday signed a legislative act providing for the payment to Roy B. Eaton, who was released from prison about a year ago.

Girl, 16, Enters 13th Day Of 21-Day Religious Fast

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Evelyn Jenkins read the Bible, prayed and meditated in the woods near her aunt's house today as she began the 13th day of a planned 21-day fast.

The pretty brunette, who said she had never been a member of a church before she joined the Voice of Faith Temple in September, said she is fasting for the "glory of God" and wants to become a home missionary.

Evelyn's weight has dropped from 130 to 120 pounds since she went on water and fruit juices 12

Poles Offered $95,000,000 In U. S. Aid

Tentative Amount Includes 65 Million In Farm Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials have tentatively offered Poland aid totaling $95 million dollars, including about 65 million worth of surplus farm commodities, it was reported last night.

That aid program would be about three times greater than the original U.S. offer.

Negotiations started last February after President Eisenhower announced this country would help Poland in view of its asserted independence from Russia.

Negotiations Continue

A State Department spokesman said the negotiations likely will continue another two weeks. The talks cannot be completed until Congress extends legislation allowing disposal of farm surpluses abroad.

The 65 million dollars worth of surplus farm goods would be sold at world prices which are lower than U.S. prices. The commodities would consist mainly of cotton, grains and fats.

Finance Machinery

The remaining 30 million dollars would go to finance agricultural and mining machinery.

When the negotiations first started, the United States offered Poland an aid program amounting to about 30 million dollars. This was rejected as inadequate by the Polish negotiators.

Two Men Stage $52,000 Holdup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two employees of a cafeteria firm were robbed of $52,000 they were taking to the bank today when two bandits pulled up beside their automobile at a busy Washington intersection.

Police said the money was taken at gunpoint from messengers for Government Services, Inc., while they were stopped for a red light only four blocks from the bank.

Flake Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated career diplomat Wilson C. Flake of Polkton, N.C., as the first U.S. ambassador to the new African republic of Ghana.

U. S. Awaits Arab Bloc's Unity Action

Saudi Arabia, Jordan Slated To Join With Egypt, Syria Soon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials believe that Saudi Arabia and Jordan will join Egypt and Syria soon in creating a new show of Arab unity despite their recent political conflict over Jordan's fate.

This prospect was advanced here today as one reason why the United States has not directly blamed Egyptian President Nasser for his role in the Jordanian crisis.

U. S. policy and propaganda apparently are designed to take into account the desires and purposes of King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Hussein of Jordan. American officials say they do not believe real unity can be restored among the four but if Saud and Hussein want to play Arab politics that way the United States evidently will not interfere.

Protect U. S. Policy
Furthermore, officials do not want to get this country's policy in a position where the two Arab rulers would cut the ground from under it. That would happen if the kings showed outward friendship for Nasser and Syrian President Shukri al Kuwattli when Washington was blaming the Arab presidents for much of the trouble.

Officials also feel that any outright U. S. attack on Nasser tends to strengthen his internal position in Egypt. With the control of the Suez Canal now completely in his hands, Nasser is in position to make trouble for the West if he wants to.

Blames Communism
So far the United States has put the blame for the crisis in Jordan on "international communism" under the control of the Soviet Union. Its aim in doing this seems to be to say to the Arabs that Russia was responsible for an effort to reduce Jordan to virtual satellite status while the United States by supporting Hussein was in part responsible, along with King Saud, in helping that country preserve its independence.

What the American government has not tried to explain is the manner in which international communism operated in trying to impose on Jordan a government oriented toward the Soviet Union.

McLeod Gets Group's Okeh

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved by a 9-6 vote the nomination of Scott McLeod to be ambassador to Ireland.

The action came at the committee's third straight day of consideration of the nomination. McLeod now is State Department security officer.

Chairman Green (D-R.I.) said in his view McLeod "does not seem to measure up" to qualifications needed to be ambassador to Ireland.

But Green declined to speculate on how many other Democrats on the committee shared that view. One Democrat, Sen. Llong (La.), said he was supporting the nomination.

Rayburn Backs Butler
Democratic Committee Gathers For Pow-wow

WASHINGTON (AP)—House speaker Sam Rayburn today supported Paul Butler today as Democratic national chairman.

The powerful Democrat denied reports he favored ousting the party chairman at the national committee pow wow that starts tomorrow in Washington.

"Paul Butler is making a good chairman," Rayburn said in an interview and added: "I don't see any reason to replace him at this time."

The speaker said he had no comment on Butler's reported desire to resign next year as chairman and run against Sen. William Jenner (R-Ind.). Butler said yesterday he will not make

Wilson Says Army's 'Rid' Of Pigeons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has told a House Appropriations Military subcommittee, which wanted to know about disposition of obsolete equipment, that "We finally got rid of the carrier pigeons."

In testimony by Pentagon officials before the subcommittee, released today, Rep. Everett Scriven (R-Kan.) commented that "We won't balance the budget with that particular item."

Wilson said he may have been a "little flippant" in his answer about the pigeons, then gave the committee some detailed data about equipment. He said the Defense Department currently is disposing of about 14 billion dollars worth of surplus property a year.

During a three-year period ending last June 30, Wilson said, the Army disposed of about half its stock of 40mm. antiaircraft guns, a third of the 75mm. guns, 32,000 of the .30 caliber machineguns, most of the older 105mm. howitzers and a quantity of other outdated weapons.

During the same period, the Navy cut its inventory of older ships by 11 destroyers, 3 transports, 12 large infantry landing

Major Farm Law Clauses Said Failures

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson declared today that major provisions of present farm laws are failures. He appealed to Congress for better programs, but made no specific suggestions.

The secretary voiced criticism of crop control measures enacted in the late 1930s and subsequently modified, and of the flexible price support program enacted in 1954 at the urging of President Eisenhower and himself.

Offers No Proposals
While offering no specific proposals for improving farm aid programs, Benson gave a word of praise to those provisions in present laws which give him wide leeway in setting price supports on a large number of commodities.

He set forth these views in a letter to Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee. He said they were made in response to an invitation from Ellender that he "consider some of the important problems arising under existing price support legislation."

Supports Made Obsolete
Benson said a "technological explosion" occurring on American farms is making obsolete the present control and price support programs as they pertain to the designated "basic" crops — cotton, corn, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

"Production per farm worker has doubled in the last 15 years," Benson said. "This creates a new dimension in farm policy and makes it virtually impossible to curtail agricultural output with the type of controls acceptable in our society."

C. Of C. Opposes Federal Spending
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce today was armed for its battle against federal spending with 69 new policy declarations—some of them aimed squarely at President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Before ending its 45th annual meeting here last night, the Chamber adopted resolutions putting its 3,100 local and state affiliates on record against virtually all the new spending programs awaiting action by Congress.

The Air Force chief said the big flattops show up very clearly on an airborne radar scope, and that they can be sunk or knocked out by an H-bomb if it hits within "a couple of miles." He said "You can miss quite a ways and still sink them."

Inquiry Looms Into Baltimore Red Infiltration
BALTIMORE (AP)—Approximately 30 witnesses have been summoned for public hearings beginning next Tuesday on Communist infiltration into Baltimore industry.

A subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities will conduct the congressional hearings Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Word that five more subpoenas had been issued came yesterday from Edward R. Jeannette of the State Subversive Activities Bureau. The bureau is a unit of the Maryland State Law Department. It was created in 1951 after enactment of an anti-subversive law.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the full House committee, will preside at the hearing.

Bonn's Chief Urges Arms Control Plan

Adenauer Asks Russ To Match Germany's Pledges Made In '54

BONN, Germany (AP)—The United States assured its Atlantic allies today it intends to carry out 1957 defense plans in full.

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today challenged the Soviet Union to match West Germany's 1954 pledges not to produce atomic, bacteriological or chemical weapons and the Bonn government's acceptance of strict and permanent control of all armaments.

"I am convinced that every nation would follow the Russian example and the danger of atomic war would be a thing of the past," Adenauer told the opening session of a three-day meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers.

But Adenauer said that in contrast to West Germany's pledges in the 1954 Western European Union treaty, the Soviets have blocked every Western disarmament proposal by refusing control and inspection of arms.

Soviet Must Attack

Adenauer also asserted that recent Russian warnings to NATO members and their allies about the dangers of nuclear warfare overlook the simple fact that "such war can be unleashed only by Soviet attack."

West Germany, he said, is ready to make its full contribution to the NATO defense shield. That shield, said Adenauer, under present conditions offers the best hope of avoiding "the apocalyptic fate of modern war."

Citing criticism that NATO's forces are inadequate to deal with the Soviet Union's immense military power, Adenauer said NATO's forces assuredly are inadequate for waging a war of aggression.

Not Instrument Of Attack

But NATO is "not meant to be an instrument of attack," he declared. "It is an instrument of defense against attack and it fulfills that task in full measure." The West, Adenauer continued, must base its policy and actions on "the serious realities of our age."

Among these he listed: (1) Soviet maintenance of five million men under arms and retention of 22 divisions with some 7,500 modern tanks in East Germany; (2) Russia's expressed determination to impose the Communist system on the entire world; (3) The territorial expansion of the Soviet Union since the war and her control of East Europe.

Adenauer's statement fell in line with the conviction of most NATO's political leaders that successful collective defense must be based on the free world's arsenal of nuclear weapons.

Both Adenauer and Italian Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino, current chairman of the NATO Council, warmly praised the work of the retiring secretary general, Lord Ismay of Britain. It was Ismay's honor that the opening

Postal Rate Hike Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee today begins closed-door consideration of increased postal rates — a key issue in the Eisenhower legislative program.

The committee is expected to take a week before coming to a decision on what it will recommend to the House.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) has said the increases were necessary to help put the Post Office Department on a sound business basis.

The bill would add about $27 1/2 millions to postal revenues by 1961, with $62 millions in the first year. It includes a penny increase on 3-cent and 6-cent air mail stamps.

Crippled British Military Plane Crashes; 32 Perish

BLACKBUSHE, England (AP)—A crippled military transport plane crashed in flames last night after a desperate attempt to return here for an emergency landing. Thirty-two of 35 persons aboard died.

The twin-engine Viking was carrying military personnel and their families to Libya. Officials said the dead included one woman and two children. Also aboard were 25 British soldiers, 2 War Department civilian workers and a crew of 5.

Four soldiers were taken alive from the flaming wreckage and runway.

Church Fund Paid Off Suit For NAACP

Presbyterian (U.S.A.) Confirms KKK Charge Of $10,000 Donation

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—The moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., last night confirmed a Ku Klux Klan statement that the church gave $10,000 to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to pay off a damage suit.

The South Carolina Klan said yesterday that the church (the Northern branch) gave the money to the NAACP to use in an out-of-court settlement of a suit brought by Atty. Shepherd K. Nash, Sumter, S. C.

The moderator, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, said in Chicago:

Assembly Authorized

"I gave them $10,000 from church funds on the authority of the assembly."

The Klan statement, authorized by Robert E. Hodges, secretary of the Columbia klavern, asserted:

"Few Americans and fewer Presbyterians ever thought they would see the day when the Presbyterian Church would sink so low in the mire of social gospel politics as to raise funds for the racemixing activities of the Communist-dominated National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People."

Denies Red Link

The NAACP has said it has no Communist influence in its leadership.

The Klan based its statement on an article in the Jan. 6 issue of Presbyterian Life magazine.

A Presbyterian spokesman in Philadelphia said that a representative of the church's Division of Social Welfare investigated the case. Then, he said, the offer to help was made to the Sumter NAACP chapter "as offers are similarly made wherever help is needed and the church feels it has a duty to perform."

New Atom Plane Plans Adopted; Slated In 1963

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Air Force has told Congress that designs for the first nuclear-powered airplane were scrapped because the engines were too heavy and the first atomic flight might have cost four or five billion dollars.

A "new approach" has been adopted that is expected to result "a few years later"—apparently about 1963—in an atomic plane that will be supersonic in speed, smaller in size, and considerably less costly.

Air Force testimony released today by the House subcommittee on military appropriations disclosed that planned spending on the nuclear aircraft program was cut from more than 700 million dollars a year to just over 200 million dollars annually.

Donald A. Quarles, then secretary of the Air Force, told the subcommittee in February that besides being too heavy, the junked plane would have been of doubtful military value.

Quarles said "We have now come to the conclusion that we have to back up and take a new hitch on the problem, so to speak."

The figure Quarles gave for the possible cost of the abandoned bomber would be twice the price of the first atomic bombs.

He added that aircraft engines must have roughly 100 times as much power per pound of weight as those used in nuclear submarines and under construction for surface vessels. He said "it

U. S. Reveals Two Changes In Weapons

Army Has New-Type Rifle; Forces Have Atom Artillery Shell

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has reported two major weapons changes. It announced the Army's adoption of a new rifle, and confirmed reports U. S. forces have an eight-inch atomic artillery shell.

The Army said yesterday it has formally adopted the new T44 rifle, developed by Army Ordnance, to replace four shoulder weapons—the Garand M1 rifle, the Browning automatic rifle (BAR), the .30-caliber carbine and the M3 submachinegun.

Uses 7.62 Ammo

The T44 uses 7.62mm ammunition, the standard adopted for NATO troops. The cartridges are shorter and lighter than the .30-caliber ammunition used in the M1.

The rifle has been tested over the last two years, and money for its production will be asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1958.

The Defense Department disclosure that eight-inch atomic shells are in existence came in response to inquiries by reporters over the past several years.

Nuclear Capability

The department also said the Army has both eight-inch guns and eight-inch howitzers capable of firing the nuclear ammunition.

About two years ago, the Army was reported seeking a lighter weapon than the 260mm atomic cannon. This gun, like the eight-inch weapons, can fire either conventional or atomic shells.

The 260mm cannon and its tractor weigh 65 tons, compared with 35 tons for the eight-inch cannon and its carriage. The eight-inch howitzer is reported to have a range nearly equal to the 20-mile range reported for the 260mm piece.

The four-mile ferry boat trip between San Francisco and Alameda, across San Francisco Bay, takes only 18 minutes.

Both Parties Ready To Help Cut Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders of both parties said today they will be glad to help President Eisenhower get a bigger tax reduction than in 1954—by cutting his $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

Eisenhower told officers of the League of Women Voters yesterday that before he leaves office in 1961 he would like to see a bigger tax reduction than the seven-billion-dollar cut of three years ago.

However, he stressed his belief in the need for heavy spending on defense and foreign aid "as long as there is abroad a predatory force seeking to destroy our form of government."

This was viewed as an indication of the lack he would take in any radio-television appeal for public support for his budget and program, including his embattled foreign aid proposals.

After a White House meeting of Republican congressional leaders and the President yesterday, newsmen were told there was a general consensus among the group that Eisenhower should make such a public appeal.

Queried later by newsmen, White House Press secretary James C. Hagerty said such a move is under consideration, but that no final decision has been made. Hagerty said Eisenhower "feels a great deal of misrepresentation" has been spread about his spending budget and that "he is going to point it out."

Today, Chairman Bridges (NI) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he doubts any such appeal will stop Congress from making "substantial" reductions in the budget.

"He certainly can't change my mind about cutting the budget," Bridges said, predicting Eisenhower's $4,400,000,000 foreign aid program will be cut by at least 14 billion dollars.

If this and similar economies are made, Bridges said, the way then will be open for some lowering of taxes.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in a separate interview, "I'd like to see a tax cut any time."

"But I don't think anyone can tell whether it will be possible until we see what Congress does with the appropriations bills," he added.

Gates Opposes Single Military

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Navy Gates says he is opposed to a single combined military service for the nation.

At a dinner of the Pennsylvania Club last night, Gates termed the single-service plan "probably the most utter nonsense that has ever been foisted upon the American public."

With such an operation, he added, "perhaps the United States would be led into devising a single strategy, and we need alternate strategies."

The club awarded Gates its Benjamin Franklin Trophy for "outstanding service."

Ban On Reporter Visits To Red China Clarified

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said yesterday the State Department ban on visits to Red China by American newsmen does not abridge the freedom of the press because it relates only to the gathering, not the publication, of news.

Dulles' comment was made public by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times. Sulzberger wrote Dulles on April 23 expressing his feeling that the administration is abridging the freedom of the press and using the press as an instrument in its diplomacy.

In his letter of reply, Dulles said: "U. S. foreign policy 'inevitably' involves the acceptance of certain restraints by the American people. If it were not so, foreign policy would be impotent."

The "newsgathering fraternity" not the State Department, must distinguish between responsible newsgatherers and "adventurers" more interested in visiting China than reporting what is going on there.

The second point referred to Dulles' comment of April 23 that perhaps some formula could be found for a passport policy permitting responsible newsgathering in China. Dulles then stressed, however, that the number of correspondents in China should be limited and that those who are there should make their dispatches available to all newspapers.

Dulles said "the constitutional 'freedom of the press' relates to publication, and not to the gathering of news. There are, of

Negro Faces Attempted Murder Count

BALTIMORE (AP) — Meadow Bunch, 36-year-old Negro, was to be arraigned in Central Police Court today on a charge of assault with attempt to murder a Baltimore policeman.

Patrolman James G. Mach, 60, assigned to the police headquarters elevator because of poor health, was severely beaten Tuesday — police said — when Bunch attempted to escape from a detention cell.

Bunch was being questioned in the robbery-slaying of Heinz Heymann, 70-year-old German-born restaurateur whose body was found Sunday in a darkened area-way of the building which housed his restaurant.

The intent to murder charge was made late yesterday after a 2½-hour conference of State's Attorney J. Harold Grady, Detective Capt. George H. Minliens, and officers investigating the Heymann murder. Afterward, Minliens said:

"Investigation of the Heymann case is still continuing." Grady said conferees in Minliens' office weighed "evidence concerning the possibility of charging" a suspect in the Heymann slaying "but we have reached no decision."

Preliminary hearing for Bunch is being postponed until Patrolman Mach is released from the hospital, probably eight to 10 days. The hospital said the officer's condition was satisfactory.

Bartender And Gas Man Can Help With Mental Cases

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The bartender and the gas man can play useful roles in the early detection of mental disease and social problems, a State Health Department psychiatrist said today.

Bartenders sometimes are called out of bed in the middle of the night by people who want to tell their troubles, Dr. A. D. Schwartz of Berkeley reported to the California Medical Assn.

The men who service gas installations in homes and apartments can be instrumental in detecting contemplated suicide, he added. And the minister may be a big help if he knows how to handle people who want to get married and who obviously have personality problems.

People like bartenders and gas men constitute the "care-taker group" who often see individuals in situations which point to future trouble and they can bring them to the attention of organized mental health workers, Dr. Schwartz said.

Suicide-bent people sometimes turn on the gas and then change their minds. A neighbor may smell the gas and notify the utility of a leak. The gas man finds no leak but he may run across somebody in the neighborhood who has just been divorced or who has other disturbing problems.

This man may prevent a future suicide if he knows how to talk to or listen to the person, or he may be the means of bringing the troubled person and the mental health worker together, Dr. Schwartz said.

Deferment Tests Planned May 16

The Selective Service System will hold a special college qualification test May 16 for students who were unable to take the regular test last November.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of Selective Service, said students desiring to take the test should contact the nearest Selective Service Board and obtain an application form.

Col. Stanwood said the form should be filled out completely and sent in not later than midnight, May 6. To be eligible for the test a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction and have not previously taken the test.

Students who attain a prescribed upper class standing or make a score of 70 or better on the College Qualification Test are eligible to be considered for deferment during the next academic year.

Jury Awards $827 Verdict

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated about two hours yesterday afternoon before awarding an $827 verdict to a local woman who had sought $5,000 damages from the local Coca-Cola Bottling Works.

The $827 was awarded to Mrs. Caroline V. Henderson, 71, wife of Elmer D. Henderson, 605 Hill Top Drive. She contended she suffered mental and physical illness after drinking a small portion of a bottle of the soft drink before finding it contained a dead mouse.

Chief Judge George Henderson, who is unrelated to the plaintiff, presided at the trial. Mrs. Henderson was represented by Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson. The defense attorneys were William C. Walsh and William Walsh.

William V. Day served as foreman of the jury which began its deliberations about 2:20 p. m. and returned to the court room about 4:15 p. m.

Goldstein To Seek One Of Four State Positions

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four state-wide offices will be up for grabs in the 1938 election and Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert) says he probably will seek one of the posts.

But what office will he seek—governor, U. S. senator, attorney general or State Comptroller? Goldstein says he hasn't yet decided.

The decision probably will depend on political circumstances and factional lineups when the time comes to announce. But Goldstein says his friends around the state "have been asking me about all those posts."

While making up his mind, the 44-year-old Democrat has been acting like a candidate. He has made at least one public appearance in each of the 23 counties in Maryland since last fall and has made several speeches in Baltimore.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes has announced for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and most Democrats think Goldstein will seek to replace Tawes as comptroller.

Also reported a possible candidate for the comptrollership is House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th).

Civil Rights Foes Make Use Of Labor Probe

WASHINGTON — Developments in Congress open the way for a common front among opponents of civil rights legislation and champions of legislation to impose further restrictions on organized labor.

This interesting new situation at the Capitol revolves about the current investigation, directed by Senator John McClellan into racketeering. That inquiry has kept abuses in labor, chiefly this far in the Teamsters Union, in the headlines for many days, with a guarantee that this publicity injurious to labor will continue.

This expose was long needed. Labor itself and its recognized friends are moving rapidly to promote full revelations and a housecleaning where evils exist.

But this opportunity is also being capitalized upon by others whose pious talk about "protecting labor" sounds a bit out of character if you are familiar with their records and their views.

THE EMPHASIS on labor racketeering has offered a weapon to the opponents of civil rights legislation.

The most significant new move along that front is the sponsorship by McClellan of a "right-to-work" amendment to the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

In holding up the threat of a "right-to-work" amendment, which organized labor is fighting bitterly as a threat to the union shop, McClellan is acting with the support of other Southerners who are ready to go to almost any lengths to kill civil rights legislation. Some of them, too, are for "right-to-work" laws. So, seemingly, is McClellan, though his public avowal at this time in the midst of his investigation came as somewhat of a surprise.

Since the day his investigation opened, he has insisted upon his impartiality and also announced his intention to investigate industry where it has joined with labor in racket practices, though he has not yet disclosed any plans for an investigation into collusion by industry.

Previously, the Arkansas Senator had not joined other Senators in sponsorship of "right-to-work" bills, of which there are several. Eighteen states now have such laws.

THE DRIVE for extension of these laws has gathered new momentum in the wake of the Senate investigation.

This was illustrated in the opening speech by John S. Coleman, president, to the annual convention here of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

He demanded a housecleaning by labor and then went further to say this should include recognition by labor that "right-to-work" laws have "a moral basis" and cessation by labor of secondary boycotts. He also suggested that labor be put under anti-trust laws along with business.

His speech was interpreted as the opening of a campaign by business and industry for legislation along those lines.

THE THREAT of further restrictive legislation against labor as a weapon to prevent civil rights legislation is a tactic among Southerners in the House as well as in the Senate.

For example, Representative Howard Smith, chairman of the House Rules Committee where the Eisenhower Administration's civil rights bill now awaits clearance to the floor, is sponsor of the so-called "state rights" bill, discussed here recently.

Incidentally, the identical bill also has been introduced by McClellan in the Senate and is pending in the Judiciary Committee.

It could endanger both labor unions and civil rights legislation. For it would confer upon states the authority to set aside Federal statutes if those states had laws of their own on the same subjects, unless Congress specifically states that the Federal law alone shall apply.

SOUTHERNERS hope to confound supporters of civil rights legislation, including labor, by the threat of harmful labor legislation and thus thwart efforts to enact civil rights legislation. But, at the same time, determined sponsors of bills inimical to labor find new allies in their campaign among opponents of civil rights legislation.

After a five-week filibuster by its Southern members, the Senate Judiciary Committee on Monday gave the civil rights bill the status of pending business.

But it made this a mockery by also making the McClellan "right-to-work" amendment pending business and providing that all sorts of matters could be given precedence at any time, including nominations and private immigration bills.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Never imagine that sitting down over coffee with an actor is a humdrum event. The most bizarre things can happen. Like hovering over coffee with David Burns, a professionally comic gentleman who shares with you certain dim views concerning the hazards faced by men of 50, and having 6'2" Pat Gaston walk in with Tommy Manville, wearing a diamond as big as a manhole cover.

There we were, in Sardi's, cutting up some medical touches and comparing rural dwellings, when Miss Gaston, a Texas showgirl with a waterfall of blonde hair and eyes fit to put searchlights out of business, came in and plumped down alongside.

Little Tommy Manville, as tan as a saddle and giggling over the improbable things that happen to him, swung into a seat, too, and he said: "Well, here she is, the next one, I think," and she said: "Never mind all that, did you ever see a ring like this one?"

WE'LL DAVEY and I had to confess, after a long, surveying look, that we never had and, privately, we came to the same mute conclusion: we probably never would again. This wasn't a diamond—it was a DIAMOND. You could hubcap a car with it or cut it up into sofa pillow buttons.

Miss Gaston allowed, in a Texas drawl, as how she'd never even heard of a thing like this and here she was wearing it, and how about that?

Tommy, leaning over to get in a slice of man talk, said, well, the way things were, it cost him three mortgages on his house, Bon Rep, and he didn't have a roof to sleep under.

David, a fast man when the quips are being served, drily suggested that he thought maybe John-Manville could fix that for him, this company being in the roofing business and all. And all Miss Gaston did was to take another long hinge at the diamond and say: "Oh, you boys."

THE FACT is not one of the three of us has been a boy for 40 years, but we didn't argue with her. We just tried to duck the glare from the diamond which was giving us the blind staggers. Then Tommy and Pat fell into quiet talk between themselves over whatever it is they have to talk about, so David and I went back to coffee.

"I have done a lot of things in my life," David said, "but I've never been a straight man for a diamond before. You came here to interview me and I end up looking at the biggest rock since Gibraltor. Now that she's got the diamond and he's got the girl, what's new?"

IN ANY CASE, Mr. Burns is the funniest man around town these nights in a play called "Hole in the Head," which started out six years ago as a son-of-a-bitcher of the Miami littoral and has ended up after umpteen re-writes as a hilarious comedy about the Miami littoral.

It is a warm, friendly, idiomatic and delicious item in which David is a creature scornful mankind one second, from an icy pinnacle of contempt, and the next he is down in the scuffle of the arena bellowing in his rage and choleric to the point of explosion.

I admired his work mightily on Opening Night, a continuation of a professional admiration going back as far as when 23rd Street had horse cars, and nothing along since has altered my opinion that this is the best comic performance in New York today.

THREE URNS of coffee later, Mr. Burns was telling about his early days in the conflict to become an actor and we both were wondering what happens to comedians on TV.

We agreed that the trouble seemed to be that no comic can get up there week after week and belt the customers into hysterics without either chewing scenery or hiring an ulcer surgeon.

Mr. Burns has worked a few lengthy stints in the medium and gave it as his opinion that it is a dog's life but he wouldn't refuse to answer the phone if CBS or NBC called some morning and said: "How's about it?"

Later, walking up toward Broadway in a raw, penetrating drizzle, he shivered and said: "I wish I had that diamond to wrap around me," and on that note we parted.

But I repeat: his is the funniest performance on today's Broadway.

Some Calendars Come High

WASHINGTON — Our nation is fortunate to include motorcycle repair shops, funeral directors, pork butchers, real estate agents, airlines, dress makers, rubber-heel manufacturers, leather tanners, cheese factories, and eyeglass fitters who present annually to their customers magnificent calendars.

Some of these are veritable works of art. They include studies of the female form, children at breakfast, and stags at bay. They are suitable for hanging on the walls of anybody, including Congressmen.

THESE gentlemen deserve to know what day it is, but they have just discovered that this year the cost of their own special calendars as prepared (without art work) by the Government Printing Office came to $346,498.27.

Congressional offices, by stretching it a little and posting calendars in the halls and in the paint shops in the cellars, maybe could use 1,000 calendars. That comes to $346.50 per calendar, and this figure obviously is a mistake.

Only explanation is that some Congressmen pass out free calendars to their constituents by the thousands and possibly by the hundreds of thousands. This is a nice gesture, but isn't it something maybe we could forget in penny-pinching times like these?

SURELY THE public-spirited firms mentioned in paragraph one above could put Congressmen on their mailing lists for calendars de luxe. This not only would enliven Congressional walls, but it would save us taxpayers half a million dollars a year. That is got all.

There is an allied activity centered in what is known as the folding room. Here the deathless prose of assorted Congressmen is folded, stuffed into envelopes, and mailed to voters across the land.

There actually are two folding rooms—one for the Senate, the other for the House, and here we are concerned solely with the latter. For fiscal year 1957 there was appropriated $165,000 for folding and stuffing in the House.

THE FOLDERS have been so busy this spring spreading the good word to the voters that by March 31, a month ago, they'd spent all but $29,685 of this sum. So Ralph R. Roberts, the House clerk, appeared before the Appropriations subcommittee to ask for $20,000 to eke out the folding room expenses.

He said the folders and the stuffers now were handling about 8,000,000 pieces of Congressional mail a month; it used to be only stirred up—short of actual war. That is, according to this estimate—they would not send Russian troops or "volunteers" unless they believed this was the only way to save their prestige.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—If you suspect someone is putting poison in your evening yogurt, cheer up.

It may not be, as your friends insist, a delusion. You might be right.

Dr. Theodore C. Osius, writing on the historic art of poisoning in the University of Michigan's "Medical Bulletin," says: "It is estimated that 50 per cent of murders are unsolved each year, and it may be that secret poisoning is even now far more frequent than is generally believed."

"Even when poisoning cases come to trial, the medico-legal problems make it difficult to reach a clear verdict," he says. Dr. Osius points out that Menes, the first Pharaoh—3,500 B. C.—was familiar not only with mineral poisons but also with vegetable poisons.

POISON HAS AT times been used as an instrument of government policy from the heyday of the ancient Greeks to Nazi Germany.

During the 16th and 17th centuries in Venice, the government even officially recorded its poison victims, the reasons they were assassinated, and the fees paid.

"One specialist in murder, John of Ragusa, offered a selection of poisons and proposed victims," writes Dr. Osius.

"Five hundred ducats was his price for a great Sultan, 150 for the King of Spain, 60 for the Duke of Milan, 50 for the Marquis of Mantua, and 100 for the Pope."

But he makes clear that the art of administering poisons has always been one field in which women have enjoyed equal rights. Often the female of the species has been far deadlier than the male.

For example, a gal named Locusta was official poisoner-in-ordinary to the Emperor Nero, who even provided her with slaves to experiment on. She repaid him nobly by helping him bump off his stepbrother, his mother and his wives.

BUT THE QUEEN of all lady poisoners was Toffana, a Renaissance vixen in Naples, who numbered among her 600 victims two Popes and a large number of socially prominent husbands whose only crime was that they bored their wives.

A real creative girl, Toffana's favorite poison was a cosmetic. Rub a little on your skin after shaving, boys, and—hello—undertaker!

Somebody with political pull finally got annoyed at her fun-loving, girlish pranks, so they stretched her on the rack until she confessed, then strangled her.

Her nearest male rival in modern times was Landru, the French "Bluebeard," who obtained the life savings of 283 women by posing as a well-to-do widower.

He abandoned some of his victims, poisoned others.

Oddly, since they practice the subtlest method of murder, poisoners are notoriously conservative about the poisons they rely on. They are rarely adventurous.

"Unusual poisons are the exception," concludes Dr. Osius on a note of disapproval. "Throughout history the poisoner has used the same drugs and methods and has continued to make the same mistakes as his predecessors."

George Dixon

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Two Republican Congressmen, and a gentleman who would have been the GOP Senator from Washington if he hadn't been beaten to a political pulp by a Democrat, unintentionally turned a sober session of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee into a laugh riot the other day. They panicked the hearing with disclosures of the way three magazines had impinged upon their political lives.

The unpremeditated comics were Rep. H. R. Gross, of Iowa; Rep. August E. Johansen, of Michigan; and Former Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, of Washington. The matter under discussion was the proposal to raise postal rates on magazines 60 percent over the next four years.

Reps. Gross and Johansen pretended to a detached and open-minded viewpoint, but not Ex-Gov. Langlie. It developed that since his overwhelming defeat by Senator Warren G. Magnuson in the Washington senatorial election last fall he has become president of the McCall Corp., which publishes McCall's and Red Book magazines.

REP. JOHANSEN precipitated the unwitting comedy by implying that an attempt had been made to intimidate him politically by Reader's Digest. He said he had received this letter from Willard R. Espy, of the publication's public relations department: "My dear Congressman Johansen: When one of our good friends in Congress saw the figures in the booklet (a brochure listing the circulation of Reader's Digest by states, counties and cities) his comment was: 'The people who buy the Digest are enough to swing every election that will be held this fall.'"

The Michiganander contended that this contained the definite implication that if Reader's Digest turned thumbs down on a candidate, it could induce its subscribers to do the same.

Johansen charged that the writer obviously was attempting to threaten him. A few tense moments ensued. Then A. L. Cole, general manager of Reader's Digest, distastefully tensioned into hilarity by offering this reassurance: "I wouldn't worry another minute about Mr. Espy, the author of this letter, trying to intimidate you, Mr. Congressman. Mr. Espy is no longer with us."

THE ASSEMBLY was striving to choke down its mirth at this, when Rep. Gross took over the comedy. The Iowa, who is perhaps the last man in Congress to be suspected of harboring a sense of humor, turned his preternaturally-solemn visage to Ex-Gov. Langlie and irrelevantly:

"Governor, I may not be a completely disinterested party here. This was before your time and I cannot give you credit for it, nor hold you to account for it, but a few years ago Red Book labeled me as one of the 20 worst members of Congress, and I have to thank the magazine because my opponent used the article in his campaign, and I made him eat his words."

"I attributed in some part my sizeable majority to that article. Therefore, I want to thank Red Book, through you, for it."

The gathering was practically on the floor by now, but Langlie refused to let it up. Matching Rep. Gross in deadpanly he responded lugubriously:

"I had an experience like that in reverse. Time Magazine labeled me a very wonderful man in the last election. It even put me on the cover. But I lost by the biggest majority that I ever lost an election."

Eye Witnesses

THERE WAS A TIME when an eyewitness, and the personal identification he could make, was just about the most prized factor that could be sought in cracking a criminal case. What better than the evidence of someone right on the scene, who can report with reasonable accuracy the details of the crime, including a description of the perpetrator? Lately, however, the testimony of the eyewitness has occasionally fallen into serious discredit. Here and there, but mostly in New York City, a series of "wrong man" identifications has plagued police and subjected innocent citizens to unwarranted jailing, varying degrees of harsh treatment, and damage to reputation.

THE MOST STRIKING case, of course, was that of Manny Balestrero, former New York night-club bass-fiddle player, who was falsely accused of robbery. The strain of that ordeal put his wife for a time in a mental hospital. There have been numerous others, the newest a byproduct of the arrest of young Thomas Higgins in Brooklyn on charges of brutally slaying two women this year. Higgins, according to police, told them he had attacked nine other women in recent months. One of these was a young married woman who earlier had identified another youth, one Russell Erickson, as her assailant. He is almost a double of Higgins. But now she believes Higgins rather than Erickson is the man.

NATURALLY THERE is much room for human error in this business of identifying others, particularly if a scene is dark and the events of a case are fast and turbulent. But possibly that is exactly the point. Obviously, when the conditions for visual identification are poor, both the police and the grand jury must move with extreme caution, seeking strong corroborative evidence before inflicting on any citizen the irretrievable loss that goes with arrest and possible indictment and conviction. Even when conditions are good, there must be great care. For those who "identified" Balestrero in the robbery case viewed both him and the actual thief in broad daylight at reasonably close range. Human dignity and reputation are at stake, with a man's standing in the community and ability to earn a livelihood deeply involved. They are not things to be cast aside lightly.

Logic Of History

IT IS TIME THAT we think more about the meanings and the difficult logic of history, not in any formal sense but with that pragmatism of approach which characterizes some of our best thinking. Chapters in history do not close as they do in a novel. The building up of the trend of events in the past confronts us in the pressures and problems of the present. By being fully aware of this, we can understand more and act on the basis of what we understand. This is the means of learning some of the hardest of all lessons, the lessons of history. These we must learn, and in learning them we must also learn more of our national traits and character. One of our traits which sometimes does us ill is our tendency to approach the practical problems of history with abstract principles. This was a besetting flaw in the diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson. Franklin D. Roosevelt was pragmatic, and relied overmuch on the force of his personality and on his confidence in the strength of America. This helps to explain the failure of Yalta. Harry Truman was courageous in the hour of decision, but not sufficiently reflective. These men were our presidents. They made their contributions, but we can learn from their mistakes. It is better to do this than to waste energy in polemicalizing against their administrations. The essential of learning is to struggle so that objectivity, the taste for fact and reason, will be the controlling factor rather than anger, prejudice or bias. America is too great and too important for us not to learn. For we have come to a crossroads of history in the fight. We must learn, or we may perish.

A FALLING object left a crater in the earth in California and at last reports had not been found or identified. There was no suggestion that it was a drop in either the cost of living or the national debt.

Jordan Not Likely Mid-East War Trigger

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Serious of the situation in the little Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan has appeared in the last few weeks, there is now some basis for belief it won't end in all-out war.

A Middle East war could, of course, happen accidentally.

But careful appraisals now being made in Washington indicate that since nobody is actually provoking a hot war, it might not come off because nobody wants it.

Cold war threats and incidents are expected to multiply in the long run, however, this is expected to be another crisis just short of war.

External threats against Jordan come principally from Israel on the west and Syria on the north. Syria is backed by Egypt, but President Nasser's forces cannot get at a Jordanian war except by sea to Syria or across Israel or Saudi Arabia.

Young King Hussein of Jordan has the support of both King Saud of Saudi Arabia to his south and his cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, to his east.

The armed forces of both Iraq and Saudi Arabia are rated as superior to Syrian forces, in spite of about 40 million dollars' worth of Communist arms aid to Syria.

THOUGH Syrian troops are reported to have crossed their border into Jordan, they are not believed to constitute a direct threat.

The real danger comes from Syrian-inspired disorders.

The Communist apparatus under Lt. Col. Abdel Hamid Sarraj, Syrian army intelligence chief, is believed to be effective for agitation, propaganda, riots, terrorism, bombings and even murder if necessary. But it isn't rated a war machine.

The Communists hope appears to be that disorders will cause the downfall of King Hussein. This would give other powers an excuse to move in. Such a development almost took place on April 14. It was prevented only by the young King's display of authority.

King Hussein's chances of survival are now rated no better than 50-50. He appears to have the British-trained army — half Bedouin, half Arab — supporting him.

Though British subsidies ended in March, his troops have been paid this far, perhaps with Saudi Arabian money. Hussein is safe as long as his army stays with him.

THE MAIN trouble is that Jordan has no resources to make it self-sustaining. It isn't quite as big as Kentucky and is mostly desert.

Its 1,500,000 population includes 500,000 refugees from Palestine, barely existing in camps on a United Nations allowance of eight cents a day, mostly from the U. S. This group provides the discontented mobs the leftists use for riots.

If these refugees could be resettled in other Arab lands, Jordan's worst problem would be over.

Even so, there is no logical justification for Jordan's continued existence—except to keep its neighbors from dividing it up.

If Syria should move against Jordan, it would be natural to expect Israeli forces to move east to the Jordan River, occupying that part of eastern Palestine now under King Hussein's control.

In any conflict between Syrian and Israeli troops, military experts believe the Syrians would get a worse shelling than Israel has twice given the Egyptians.

Plate Glass Firm Reports Sales Jump

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company today reported sales for the first quarter totaling $150,900,654. This represents an increase of five per cent above sales of $143,662,629 reported for the first quarter of 1956, according to David G. Hill, president.

Net earnings for the quarter year ending March 31, 1957, declined to $13,226,292 equivalent to $1.34 per share as compared with $13,704,776 equal to $1.59 per share for the same period of 1956. Per share earnings for both years are based on the 9,863,069 shares outstanding as of March 31, 1957.

Income tax provision for the first quarter of 1957 was $13,532,463 as compared with $17,723,626 for the comparable period last year.

Soltness in demand for both window glass and consumer products has been noted through the firm's merchandising division. A decline in housing starts has effected both product lines, and sheet glass imports have also contributed to a decline in window glass sales.

As a result, operations have been reduced at the company's three window glass plants located at Mt. Vernon, Ohio; Henryetta, Okla.; and Clarksburg, W. Va. At the close of the first quarter, about 700 hourly workers had been furloughed at these three plants.

Sales for Columbia-Southern Chemical Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary, remained at a high level during the period although a strike at the Lake Charles, La., plant during two months of the quarter adversely affected the subsidiary's profits.

Cook Indicted In Murder Case

A grand jury in Baltimore has charged Raymond C. Cook, 21, with the murder and robbery of Eugene F. Dombrosky, father of nine children, on Good Friday. Cook shot Dombrosky to death in an alley April 19.

The state took the case directly to the grand jury without a homicide court hearing. Dombrosky, 41-year-old former Cumberlander, was shot and robbed of $90 he was taking home to buy Easter presents for his children.

Police have said Cook, who once worked with Dombrosky, met him on the street and offered to sell him a .45 caliber pistol. Dombrosky pulled out his wallet, then changed his mind about buying the weapon and was shot in a struggle over the wallet.

Police said Cook later led them to the murder weapon buried under a flap of sod at the base of a tree. The wallet was found last week in a sewer several blocks from where Dombrosky was slain.

Stone's Value

Historical value of the Rosetta Stone lies in the fact that the hieroglyphics on this fragment of stone were translated by scholars and provided the key to the language of ancient Egypt.

Three Klondyke Youths Plea Guilty To Series Of Robberies

Three Klondyke youths yesterday pleaded guilty to burglary charges and an automobile larceny count at a hearing before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The trio included Charles E. Whetstone, 19; Thomas Baker, 18, and a 15-year-old youth. Judge Harris requested an investigation and report by David M. Steele, probation and parole officer, before passing sentence. The three boys waived their right to indictment by the grand jury and were tried on criminal informations filed by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher. Assistant State's Attorney James S. Gately presented the state's case.

The two older boys also were charged with breaking into the residence of Nellie McKenzie, model automobile of James Leo Emerson from which a $10 blanket and a $25 revolver were taken April 3.

All three boys were charged with breaking into the store of Leo McNeill from which cigars, cigarettes, candy and a cigarette lighter valued at a total of $10 were taken April 7.

The boys were represented by George R. Hughes, Jr., court-appointed defender.

Prosecutor Reluctant In Court Test

CENTREVILLE, Md.—State's Atty. Harry C. Butler went ahead with plans today for prosecuting 18 clamblers, but acknowledged that his heart wasn't in it.

The Queen Annes County clamblers are charged with illegally dredging in Chesapeake Bay. Butler said he believes the clamblers to be right.

But he said yesterday Judge William R. Horney, who will hear the case in Queen Annes Circuit Court May 14, had advised him to continue as prosecutor.

Butler said he and the defense will put witnesses on the stand and it will be up to Judge Horney to decide the legal question of whether the county's boundary is determined by the shore line or the Chesapeake Bay channel.

The recent session of the General Assembly passed a bill allowing clamblers in Queen Annes County waters of the Chesapeake Bay. However, the attorney general's office ruled that the county boundary is the shore line and therefore the law is illegal.

The 18 clamblers deliberately worked in the bay last Wednesday near Love Point to test the law. They were arrested by Tidewater Fisheries Commission inspectors.

Butler said he has written Edward S. Digges, assistant attorney general assigned to the fisheries, that he would welcome his assistance in prosecuting the case.

Mayor Finds He's 20, Not 35 Years Old

CAMBRIDGE — Mayor Russell P. Smith was flattered, if surprised yesterday to learn that the National Office of Vital Statistics had his age as only 20.

His honor was celebrating his 37th birthday.

Mayor Smith is planning to attend the International Congress of Local Governments at The Hague, Netherlands, in June and recently wrote the vital statistics office for his birth certificate needed for his passport.

The reply came back that he was born in Wisconsin County just 20 years ago.

"That was pretty flattering," the mayor said, but hardly accounted for his five years as mayor of Cambridge or several years in the South Pacific during World War II.

Turns out somebody goofed and sent the mayor the record of a Donald Smith in Phoenix, Ariz.

Brothers Finally Serve Together

HONOLULU — The Swinson brothers enlisted in the Navy together as apprentice seamen in 1929. In 1932 they married sisters.

They had never served a tour of duty together until Cmdr. Walter H. M. Swinson reported to Airborne Early Warning Squadron 2, stationed here.

Cdr. Bruce C. Swinson was already with the squadron. The brothers will finish out their Navy tours together, and retire in 1959.

Federal Road Projects Get Green Light

Interstate Highway Allocations To Total $3,500,000

BALTIMORE — Formalities have been completed for road projects through which Maryland will get a 3½-million-dollar bite of the federal interstate highway program.

The State Roads Commission signed the project agreements yesterday. The state must match $1,953,200 of the total on a 50-50 basis. Maryland need provide only 10 per cent of the remaining $1,565,160.

The federal funds are earmarked for specific projects. Three are bridge jobs in Hagerstown and Montgomery County, U. S. 301 in Southern Maryland and Maryland 240 in Rockville, Montgomery County.

The SRC, at a meeting yesterday, also awarded contracts for these projects, with contractors and amounts indicated: Construction of a new four-mile section of Maryland 31 in Carroll County; Nello Teer Co., Durham, N. C., $815,602.

Relocating three-quarters of a mile of the Ardmore-Ardwick road on the Washington circumferential highway; W. H. Koppelman Inc., White Marsh, Md.; $266,084.

Construction of a new 264-foot bridge over the Patuxent River on U. S. 301; Ole Hansen & Sons, Pleasantville, N. J.; $415,181.

Construction of a 219-foot bridge to carry traffic from the Old Georgetown Road over the Washington National Pike; Rockville Construction Co.; $329,883.

Jaycees Elect New Officers

Robert A. Mathews was elected president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at a dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghau Shrine Country Club.

Other new officers are Arthur S. Davis Jr. and Richard A. Sell, vice presidents; Raymond H. Lapp Jr., state director; Rodney Pariser, treasurer, and Glen R. Brant, secretary.

They will be installed at the "Ladies Night" dinner-dance scheduled for June 5, according to Kenneth J. Williams, the retiring president.

Next major Jaycee activity is the state convention starting Friday night in Frederick. Ronald J. Screen of Cumberland is a candidate for state vice president.

William Hill reported that the annual teen-age road-to-to encourage safe driving practices will be held May 26.

Sid Caesar Looks Toward Next Year's TV Season

By ATRA BAER
(Pinch-hitting for vacationing Jack O'Brian)

NEW YORK—(INS)—Sid Caesar's in a thoughtful mood. He's looking to the future with an eye on his past performances, and he's also in a mood to answer his critics.

"I don't know exactly what I'm going to do next season," says Sid—his Saturday NBC spot is going to be scrapped—"but I'm not going to quit television in favor of any other medium. I like my work, it's the way that I express myself, but I have to work a certain way."

The threat of being out of a job isn't bothering Sid who reportedly can pick up the phone this minute and cement a deal with another network.

"But I want an hour show. I like to put in a six-day week preparing it. I'm not a perfectionist, but looking back on this season I can see some of the things that were wrong."

Sid won't cite specifics, but says: "Some of the things I thought were bad were the best received. Some I thought were good got 'nothing' reactions."

The question of who'll be Caesar's wife next fall is undecided. Sid won't say if he even plans having one.

I asked him if his award-winning writers and his general production crew will tag along with him when he finds the spot he's looking for.

"It's up to them," he answered. Caesar hasn't exactly made a habit of talking to reporters.

"I'm not much of a talker. On camera it's different, off I sort of sit in a corner and listen."

As a result some of his state-ments—in the small, economy-size—seem curt, but were never meant to come out that way. He is a guy who thrives on admiration and who will take criticism, analyze and evaluate it until he comes up with an answer.

It has been argued that Caesar is "over the head" of that vague group known as the "average audience."

"I will not 'play down' to a television audience," he says adamantly. "There is no reason to."

One thing's sure, no matter where Sid's show goes next season, it'll be done the way he wants it. This summer, he plans to "get acquainted" with his family. No work, no nothing except lazy days at home.

"At least," Sid amends, "I plan to take a short vacation. I'm happy when I'm working."

Veteran Hollywood Director Raoul Walsh ("All Quiet On The Western Front" and "What Price Glory") will tackle TV for the first time when a new series "The Flying Tigers" goes before the cameras in July. Series will be semi-documentary based on the exploits of the famed aviators.

Agriculture Briefs...

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An Agriculture Department research report shows that the retail price of lamb averaged about four cents a pound lower in 1956 than in 1949. But the farmer got 10 cents less per retail pound for the lambs.

The study found that widening of the spread between farm and consumer prices for lamb was due, in part, to higher costs of marketing, including equipment, labor and other charges. Per capita consumption of lamb fell from 7.1 pounds in 1942 to 4.4 pounds in 1956, the report noted.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Columbia Pinto, a new variety of dry bean that has demonstrated multiple disease resistance is now available to some western growers for spring planting. According to the Agriculture Department, the Columbia Pinto not only possesses the disease-resistance traits of present-day varieties but is resistant also to the New York 15 strain of common bean mosaic and to some strains of bean rust.

Columbia Pinto is adapted to the irrigated areas of the Yakima Valley, the Columbia Basin and other areas in Washington. It is also adapted to the irrigated areas of Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Agriculture Department said today that consumer demand for food will continue strong this spring and summer—strong enough to maintain higher retail prices than a year earlier.

Supplies of most major foods in the next few months are expected to continue close to the year-earlier high level.

Senatorial Wives Hold Their Seats

SANTA FE, N. M., (AP) — When the 1957 New Mexico Legislature adjourned recently most lawmakers scurried around with cardboard boxes cleaning out their cluttered desks. Someone noted that at least a half dozen senatorial wives were in the upper chamber at the time—and none made a move to give an assist to the housecleaning.

Regulations Changed By ESB On Reports

Juvenile Judge In Favor Of Policewoman

Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday afternoon agreed with Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn's proposal for a full-time policewoman for the local Police Department.

Baron said that before the policewoman assumed her duties she should receive special training at a social work school which teaches the proper handling of delinquent girls.

He pointed out the need for both the police approach to the problem and the social approach. He said a policewoman must be able to gain the confidence and trust of girls with whom she comes in contact.

There is more to gain in this manner than by instilling a sense of fear in the delinquent girls, he said.

The magistrate also suggests the local police department have two or three younger policemen sent to such a school for the purpose of learning how to handle juveniles.

In citing the proposed curfew in Cumberland, Baron said he believes it will help, although it is not a "cure-all" as many offenses are committed in daylight hours.

He also believes that in order to police the city properly there is a need for more policemen doing "real police duty," covering definite beats on foot where they can become acquainted with the neighborhoods and children who live there.

A change in regulations designed to simplify the filing of certain reports by employers under the Unemployment Insurance Law.

Under the revised regulation, quarterly wage and contribution reports for the Maryland Department of Employment Security and similar reports for the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue will be due the same day.

The Maryland Department heretofore required employers to file the reports by the 20th day of those months immediately following the completion of each calendar quarter, while the Federal Bureau set the filing date for the last day of the same months.

The Maryland due date has now been set back, with the result that employers will be able to file their reports with both the Federal Bureau and the Maryland Department on the last day of January, April, July, and October each year.

The board emphasized, however, that the new regulation is not applicable until the July filing date, that is, until July 31.

The revision came about as a result of complaints from employers that the necessity of filing the reports with the two government branches on separate days worked an undue hardship on their accounting departments.

The reports in question record the amount of wages paid quarterly to each worker insured under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law, and the amounts of contribution due on these wages.

ESB Chairman Robert B. Kimble also noted yesterday that other Department regulations are in the process of revision as a result of extensive amendments to the U. I. Law made by the 1957

Former Agent Is Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph S. Farland, of Morganstown, W. Va., a former consultant to the State Department on foreign aid and a one-time FBI agent, will succeed William T. Phellor, former New York attorney and congressman, who is resigning.

Maryland General Assembly

A reprint of the new regulations, together with a reprint of the amended Law will be put out for printing bids shortly. Printed copies should be available around June 1, by which time all of the amendments will have taken effect.

Mr. Kimble said these reprints will be distributed automatically to employers covered by the Law, to labor unions and to other interested parties. Persons needing copies who do not receive them by a reasonable time after June 1 should make individual requests.

Four Road Projects, Two In Area, To Be Started

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission today announced "notices to proceed" have been sent to contractors on two Eastern Shore roads projects and two in the Hagerstown area. Work has been ordered to commence at once on a new concrete bridge at Tontank Pond on Maryland 663 south of Salisbury. The John D. Sheets Construction Co. of Baltimore, with a low bid of $109,925, had the contract for building a 46-foot long reinforced bridge 40 feet wide, an impounding dam and necessary approach roads. Work must begin on or before May 6, the SRC said.

A notice to proceed also went to F. P. Asher Jr. and Sons, Inc., of Annapolis which will grade, drain, widen, partially relocate and resurface a 5-mile stretch of Elk Neck Road, Maryland 272, which runs south from North East in Cecil County. The job will cost $563,200.

The commission ordered work to begin on rebuilding a 4-mile section of Maryland 418 from the Maryland border to near Leitersburg, and a 2-mile section of Maryland 64 from the state line to 1.3 miles south of Ringgold, Md. J. Grove Lime Co. of near Frederick will do both of these Washington County projects under a contract calling for $1,242,024.

Firemen Will Meet On Sunday At Luke

A meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Luke Volunteer Fire Company Hall.

It will be the final session of the association prior to the two-county convention at Grantsville on June 5.

TO SPEAK—Dr. R. Lee Hornbake, associate dean of the faculty at the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the new Bruce High School in Westernport at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow. The school has been in use since April 24.

Farm Market For McHenry

OAKLAND—A market is being organized again to operate at McHenry in the Bowman boat barn. The name has become the Farm and Home Market to more nearly include all who would care to sell.

Mrs. Gerald Gloffely is to be manager again this year. The market will open June 1, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. (DST), and continue for 13 Saturdays, ending August 31.

In order to assist those who plan to sell with packaging, there will be a demonstration tomorrow in the Accident Fire Hall from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. (DST). Mrs. Judith Philon and Miss Janet Coblenz, nutritionists of the Extension Service, will demonstrate quality and wrapping of baked goods. Harold Hoecker, marketing specialist of the Extension Service, will show grading and packaging of fruits and vegetables. All who plan to sell are urged to attend this meeting.

It is planned this year to put a poster in many of the cabins around Deep Creek Lake. More signs are being made to advertise the market.

As an outgrowth of the market last summer there will be markets in two other areas of the county: one in the Asher Glade area between Friendsville and Markleysburg, Pa., and the other at Red House. Women who sold at the market last summer in the Sunnyside area, south of Oakland, plan to sell at Red House. All of the merchandise offered for sale are made or grown by the sellers.

State Garage Work Planned

MOOREFIELD—Authorization to start construction of the new county headquarters for the State Road Commission was announced by W. M. Gamble Tuesday evening in what was his last official announcement as district engineer.

Gamble said that he had been working on the project for over a year to get a permanent site for the county headquarters. Approximately three acres of land was acquired from Halbert Wilson on the south side of Routes 259 and 55 beyond the Moorefield Municipal Airport and near Port Run. The buildings will be constructed of concrete block and will include a shop, an office and the equipment stalls.

Work will start in the near future.

Like wooden ships of sailing days with their carved figureheads, some modern steel ships now carry bronze figureheads.

Council Pays For Dog Tags

JANESVILLE, Wis.—If never did the old maxim about putting money where your mouth is come closer to a direct hit than upon the Janesville city fathers after they adopted a resolution to issue licenses free to the city's guide dogs for the blind.

The action taken, the councilmen were informed that the licenses were outside their jurisdiction. Strictly county business. Faced with the emergency, the councilman took the only course left open—they passed the hat and collected $15 to buy the licenses.

Morgan District Election June 11 To Give Increases

BERKELEY SPRINGS—Morgan County will have a special election June 11 to vote upon a proposal to authorize a levy which would raise the funds for teachers' salaries and non-teaching personnel an estimated $45,000 and provide funds for maintenance of school property and purchase of school equipment to an estimated amount of $12,000.

Rates of increase on the $100 valuation proposed by property classifications to raise the funds were given as follows:

- Class 1—11.475 cents.
- Class 2—22.95 cents.
- Class 3 and 4—45.9 cents.

The board of education authorized the special election at a meeting Monday evening, called for the purpose of considering ways and means of raising funds. A citizens committee meeting about two weeks ago on two different occasions recommended this action to the board. The PTA of the Berkeley Grade School at a meeting endorsed this action by a unanimous vote.

Morgan County, located near the Maryland line and between two counties of West Virginia, which pay above the West Virginia minimum, has been losing teachers at a high rate each year. The citizens group, after exploring the problem in meetings and a sub-committee meeting, decided that some additional funds were needed and the increase levy would be a better means of raising the money than the use of the head tax law passed by the recent legislature.

All board members were present except Elmo Allen, who has been ill for several weeks. Two bids were submitted on stage curtains for Paw Paw High School and one bid for the North Berkeley Grade School. A bid of $1,067 from the West Virginia Seating Company, Huntington, was accepted for the Paw Paw High School and $488 for the main address.

Hungarian Refugee Turns 'Capitalist' At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—After four months in the United States, Josef Marton, his wife, Anna, and their young daughter, Kitty, who arrived here January 4 after fleeing strife-ridden Hungary, have taken a step forward in becoming full-fledged citizens of their adopted country.

Marton was born in Verseg, about 51 kilometers from Budapest. The son of a farmer, he worked on his father's farm until forced to work in coal mines by the Russian occupation forces who moved into his country at the end of World War II.

When his countrymen rebelled against the Russians in 1956, Marton hid rifles and ammunition in the mines where he worked in an effort to force the invaders from his country.

For a time it seemed that this had been accomplished, according to Marton and there was great rejoicing in Budapest. However, the enemy came back in overpowering waves of tanks and heavy guns.

Realizing that his only chance of survival was in flight, he and his family started the 300-mile trip on foot at night for the Austrian border. In order to avoid capture and possible death, they traveled only by night. Several times they were given a lift by farmers along the way, many times the only food they had was a sandwich and a glass of water given them by a sympathetic family along the way.

Ten nights later, in a driving rain, Marton and his family were exhausted, dejected and about to give up. They had apparently lost their way, were wet, hungry and discouraged. They came upon a highway sign and were amazed to find that they were ten miles within the Austrian border.

On November 21, 1956, they were taken to the International Refugee Center at Reichenau, Austria, where they were fed and given dry clothing. Several weeks later they were moved by train to Munich, Germany, and the following day were flown by plane to Camp Kilmer, N. J.

They came to this section several days later and for several months were located on a farm near Fintel in Garrett County. As the weeks passed Marton decided he would rather have regular employment than attempt farming as a means of livelihood.

Late in March, through the efforts of Peter Lukas who has acted as his interpreter since they arrived in Cumberland, together with a number of Romanians from Frostburg, Marton and his family were brought to Frostburg. The Rotary Club assumed the sponsorship of the three and found them a small furnished apartment above a grocery store in Eekhart.

Through the cooperation of Leslie Fair, a member of the Frostburg Lions Club, Marton obtained a job as attendant in Fair's Service Station.

Last week, Marton, with the aid of Lukas, opened a savings account in one of the local banks.

Fire Levels Frame House At Piedmont

PIEDMONT—Four area fire companies were alerted in their efforts to save a two-story frame dwelling here yesterday afternoon due to a shortage of water pressure.

The home of Army Sgt. and Mrs. Clifton A. Green, 89 Erin Street, on Piedmont Hill in the eastern part of town, was destroyed by fire believed caused by defective wiring. Firemen said there was no immediate estimate of the loss, and the home and contents were only partially covered by insurance. Some of the first floor furnishings were saved, however.

According to Westernport Fire Chief William Mayles, the blaze started somewhere around 4 p. m. Mrs. Green, who was at home with her six-year-old son, said she heard a noise like something falling on the second floor and went to investigate. As she reached the top of the stairway, she discovered one of the two bedrooms a mass of flames. She ran to a neighbor, Mrs. Roy Price, and summoned firemen.

There was some slight delay, residents said, because most of the volunteers from both the Westernport and Piedmont volunteer fire companies had been called about half an hour earlier to a brush and woods fire on Backbone Mountain near Bloomington. This fire came within about 25 feet of Bloomington Methodist Church and several new dwellings before it was halted by a score of volunteer fire-fighters.

A tank truck and a crew of men were still at the Bloomington fire last night, but it was reported confined and under control.

Chief Mayles said firemen from Keyser, McCool, Potomac Fire Company at Westernport and Tri-Towns Company at Piedmont strung eight hose lines at the Piedmont blaze in an effort to get enough water to save the Green residence. "There just wasn't enough water pressure," he declared.

Traffic between Piedmont and Keyser was blocked for more than an hour by the hose lines. Sgt. Green has been in the Army about 15 years and is presently stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va. He is home on furlough and was scheduled to return to duty today. However, at the time of the fire, he was down town and two other members of the family, Aubrey, 10 and Preston, 15 had not arrived home from school. Mrs. Green and the youngest son were the only members of the family home at the time.

Sgt. Green, a veteran of World War II, served in the China-Burma-India Theatre. After returning home at the end of the war he worked here a short time and then re-enlisted to make a career of the armed forces.

The family stayed last night with Mrs. Frank Freeman, 104 Erin Street, Mrs. Green's mother.

The fire-fighting units of Westernport and Piedmont have an agreement that only one company will leave the confines of the two communities at a time. During April, May and June the Piedmont unit is on "home-duty."

However, when the Bloomington fire broke out, Westernport sent its new truck and Tri-Towns Company from Piedmont also sent its truck and a crew of volunteers.

When the appeal for help came from the Green residence, Westernport sent the second truck from Potomac Fire Company and Piedmont returned from Bloomington upon hearing the call.

Mrs. Emmet Bowles, Fredrick, past president of the Maryland Federation, was also present and spoke briefly on planned regional meetings.

Mrs. Osburn Beall, Stevenson, vice president of the Maryland Federation, brought greetings from the group.

Following the introduction of guests, new officers were installed for the coming year as follows: Mrs. James Shryock, president; Mrs. Ralph Race, first vice president; Miss Estelle Williams, recording secretary and Mrs. John Morgan, treasurer.

Mrs. E. B. Van Fossen, second vice president and Mrs. Richard Holben, corresponding secretary, have another year to serve.

Following the program several vocal solos were given by Mrs. David Dorman, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lillian Speer Stewart.

Thompson Chairman Of UO Group

PIEDMONT—William Thompson has been appointed chairman of a committee to prepare a constitution and by-laws of the United Organizations. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Benjamin Mamolen and Mrs. Hazel Haywood.

The following persons who have been named by the chairman to be contacted for recommendations for aid to needy persons approved by the UO: James Fazenbaker, Beryl; Rev. Edwin Smith and Charles Price, Bloomington; Mrs. Mary Hood, Miss Ida Price and Thomas Martin, Piedmont; Mrs. Olive Pattison and Mrs. John Miller, Franklin and Mrs. Gerald Derham, Mill Run.

The group decided that Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School and Miss Bella Toney, chairman of the Westernport and Luke Chapter of the Red Cross, be asked to contact relief agencies of West Virginia and Maryland, respectively, concerning underprivileged persons.

The setting up of an office for a part time worker in the store room on Second Street was discussed, but it was thought that action could be delayed until fall as the call for public assistance was not heavy during the summer months.

Alton Forney was named to supervise the preparing and printing of application forms.

Wayne Ritchie called attention to specific mental cases. He also gave a report of the Cumberland meeting of the executive board of the United Fund being organized.

The lowest official temperature registered in the United States—70 degrees below zero—was at Rogers Pass, Montana in 1954, says the National Geographic Society.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section to which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, May 3, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—You won't "put your foot in your mouth" if you make up your mind to be at ease with dissenters, take upsets and obstacles philosophically, and tone down exuberance.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—You may be tempted with wrong leads, may misuse energies and talents. Be careful from the hour you arise until you retire. Keep temper, emotions under control; don't criticize destructively.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—This is no time for regretting, looking back, wishing things were different. Everyone has had hardships, trials. It is now you push forward that counts.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Some folks may argue, dissent, and be just plain do-nothings now. You can offset this with a spirited and healthy enthusiasm for action and for good work.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Fussing, moodiness, non-cooperative tendencies prevail now. Avoid them yourself and do your best to help others strive onward with faith, courage, cheer.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Don't worry about what might happen, or what occurred yesterday. Today is what counts, and today's deeds will bolster (or tear down) tomorrow's. Use common sense!

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—You may have to cope with some who seem to have "got out of bed on the wrong side." You can do it; just maintain your sense of humor and be reasonable in the face of temper and animosity.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—Don't give in to irritation, annoyances; don't be too quick to answer, too rushed, or try to do more than necessary.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—While your major planet, Jupiter, is somewhat negative in aspect, you can nevertheless, accomplish more than may seem possible. Don't waste time; energy be alert.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Bright prospects for some gain in well-planned and cleverly executed endeavors. Routine matters should be handled systematically, efficiently.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Don't be caught in other people's hassles. You will deplete the energy needed for the things you should be doing; will strain nerves, too. In a good future, remain calm within.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Spend some thought on the gracious and artistic sides of life, all of which you appreciate. This is no time for misgivings, doubts. Forget others' faults; smile your way through.

YOU BORN TODAY?—Lazily and practically are strong in your Sign, Taurus. You are not always demonstrative, but are affectionate and friendly; can be recalcitrant or rather short in manner, if not on guard. Don't abuse good health; avoid overindulgences. Employ your artistic side for relief from workaday matters. Being Bohemian in associations isn't necessarily democratic. Blood Donor Visit Slated PPG Plant

Bloodmobile Here Monday; Need For New Donors Cited

The mobile unit from the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Red Cross Blood Center will make two visits in this area next week, the first will be at the Eagles home here Monday and the second at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant at North Branch on Friday.

The PPG visit is the second to be made at an industrial plant in the area, under a program being handled by Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of the blood bank committee of the Allegheny County Red Cross Chapter. Donors will be processed from noon to 6 p. m.

The first plant visit was made January 3 at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, where workers gave 152 pints of blood. Mrs. Beneman said there is hope that other industries in the region will also invite the Red Cross unit to visit their plants to collect blood, pointing out that the Red Cross must first be requested to do so.

No Other Visits Set

Several plants have made inquiry regarding the blood program plan, she continued, but no other visit has been definitely arranged as yet.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company visit was arranged at the request of Robert Esler, employment manager, according to Mrs. Beneman, who added that many workers there contributed at one of the local visits of the bloodmobile after a flash fire killed several men and seriously burned a number of other employees last year.

Monday's visit will be held from noon to 6 p. m. and there is an urgent need that persons scheduled keep their appointments, according to Mrs. Norman Taylor, chairman of recruitment.

Only 85 of a scheduled 250 persons reported during the April visit, Mrs. Taylor pointed out, adding that that was the reason why the collection here was 41 pints short of the 150-pint quota.

Need For Substitutes

Persons who will be unable to keep appointments on Monday should contact the Red Cross office, in order that a substitute donor can be contacted.

The need for new donors to support the blood program is due to the number of persons who have attained membership in the various classifications of the project, Mrs. Taylor said. Last month, she continued, seven donors contributed their eighth pint of blood, four gave their sixteenth pint, and two were admitted to the Three Gallon Club.

Among those in the area who contribute at local visits of the bloodmobile is Mrs. Maude Poorbaugh, Wellersburg, Pa., who became a member of the "Two Gallon Club" last month.

The regional blood center has renewed its request for O-negative blood, Mrs. Taylor stated, and the regular donors in that classification have been asked to report for Monday's visit. Others who wish to contribute can do so at their convenience during the hours of the visit, she added.

Girl Ordered Held In Deaths

Miss Norma Jean Shearer, 18, Hyndman, has been ordered held for action of the Bedford County grand jury as result of a high-way accident last August in which two persons were killed.

A Bedford County coroner's jury on Tuesday recommended that the girl be held, according to Dr. J. H. Knisley, county coroner.

The accident involving three cars occurred Sunday, August 12, 1956, on Route 96, 5 1/2 miles south of Hyndman. Other drivers involved were William E. Kemp, 72, this city, and John Clark, 37, Hyndman.

Killed in the crash were Carol Ann Kendall, 17, of Hyndman, riding with Miss Shearer, and Barbara Lee Clark, 4-year-old daughter of Clark and a passenger in his car. Miss Shearer and Clark both were injured seriously in the mishap.

Miss Shearer's car first sideswiped the Kemp car and then struck the Clark auto.

Testimony at the coroner's inquest in Bedford County Courtroom was given by Trooper F. W. Gentinman of the Pennsylvania State Police, investigating officer; Kemp, Clark, Miss Shearer, Orville Moore and Ray Emerick, employees of a service station near the accident site.

District Attorney E. W. Van Horn Jr. assisted Knisley with the inquiry. Members of the jury were S. D. Ickes, Quentin Hamner, A. C. Koonitz, Byron Wissegarver, Charles Rugh and Clay Fink.

Alco Class To Meet

The Class of 1947 of Allegheny High School will meet today at 8 p. m. in Room 117 at the school. Plans will be discussed for a reunion sometime this summer.

JUDGE BARON HONORED — Homer Higgins, right, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegheny County Board of Education, is shown presenting a gift to Juvenile Magistrate Morris Baron at a luncheon yesterday in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Representatives of the Board of Education, Allegheny County Welfare Department and Juvenile Court honored Judge Baron yesterday in observance of his retirement as juvenile magistrate. Judge Baron will complete his duties in Juvenile Court Monday morning.

Cancer Drive Total Climbs Over $3,200

Frostburg Section Outstanding With More Than $1,000

A check this morning of partial returns from last night's Cancer Crusade revealed a total of $3,237.86 from the door-to-door canvass by scores of women and resulted in officers of Allegheny County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society, forecasting that this phase of the 1957 campaign will run far ahead of last year's figures.

"Last year's overall total was only slightly more than $7,000," William Walsh, chapter president said this morning, "and that figure represented special gifts and a number of large donations, including checks from employee charity groups at industrial plants."

"We are confident now that the women's division total will reach at least $6,000, and we're hoping that other large individual donations will make the final campaign figure at least $10,000."

Frostburg Outstanding

"We are especially pleased with the response from Frostburg where $1,012.98 was raised last night. This total is not complete as some workers have not yet made reports, and the figure does not include some checks received from Frostburg in the mail this morning. Considering the Frostburg area's total was $614.25 it is apparent that an outstanding job has been done there."

The first report last night came from Oldtown, which collected $64.26, nearly half again more than the $43.89 collected there last year.

The LaVale Century Club today reported a total of $441.07 from that section, and the West Side total this morning stood at $456.48 with Washington Street, The Dingle, Braddock Road and a large section of Greene Street yet to be solicited.

Other partial totals include Johnson Heights, $428.63; South End below subway, $91; Mid-City area, $157.76; Bedford Road, $233.14, and Bowman's Addition, $55.02.

Canvass To Continue

It was impossible for workers to cover all of the city's streets last night. In fact, Walsh added, some groups have arranged to call at homes tonight and tomorrow evening because of conflicting engagements last night.

One of these areas is Bedford Road Extended, where Mrs. Fred Purnell is the captain. Her team includes Mrs. Ralph S. Miller, Mrs. Fred Roberts, Mrs. Frank Adams, Mrs. L. L. Switzer, Mrs. Davis Wilson, Mrs. Calvin Growden, Mrs. Melvin Little, Mrs. J. R. Adams, Mrs. Dennis Elliott and Mrs. Harold Heavner.

Reports have not been received from Lonaconing, Midland, Barton, Gilmore, Mt. Savage, Flintstone, Cresaptown, Ellerslie and a number of other county communities, and the sections that have arranged for solicitation to night include Eckhart, Corriganville, Potomac Park and Westernport.

Elderly Woman Hurt In Mishap At Home

An 86-year-old woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon after being injured in a fall at her home.

Attaches said Mrs. Matilda Burkell, RD 1, city, sustained an injury to her right hip when she fell while closing a window in her bedroom.

Aren Boy Injured

An 11-year-old boy was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital at noon today after being injured at SS. Peter and Paul School.

Attaches said the boy, Leo J. Ruppert, son of Leo Ruppert, Rocky Gap Road, sustained a fracture of the left lower leg.

Tourists Give Donation To Easter Seals

Drive Enriched By $10; Now Within $20 Of Campaign Quota

The Easter Seal campaign is within $20 of its quota, according to Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children, who said donations received this morning included a $10 bill from tourists passing through town.

The donation was accompanied by a note which read:

"We were passing through your town and read in the paper about the shortage of funds in the Easter Seal returns."

"We didn't receive any Easter Seals, but we would like to help pay for those persons who have forgotten to kick their buck in the pot." The note was signed "10 Tourists."

Miss Lippold said the donation highlights the respect for work which is done for crippled children with the funds received in the annual campaign, and should act as a reminder for residents of Allegheny County who have forgotten to mail their contributions. More than 23,000 residents of the county received Easter Seals in the mail last month.

Donations received to date, including $75 this morning, amount to $8,281.05, while the campaign quota is $8,300, Miss Lippold said. Much more than this amount is needed to finance treatment of crippled children, she continued, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received by this year's work.

A breakdown of the campaign contributions show that the amount received is from 6,896 returns, Miss Lippold stated. Returns by county communities indicate the following:

Donations from Cumberland number 4,352 for a total of $4,433.35; 956 from Frostburg for $1,042.95; 305 from Westernport for $401; 232 from Lonaconing for $328; 147 from Mt. Savage for $166.25.

Baron has 97 returns totaling $114.50; Cresaptown had 104 for $105.50; Luke has 71 for $84.25; Midland has 67 for $81.25; and Keyser in neighboring Mineral County, W. Va., has 79 for $91.

Donations will continue to be accepted until the end of the month, Miss Lippold said.

Final Briefs Filed In Case To Halt Train

Western Maryland Passenger Decision Expected After Study

The final brief has been filed by the protesting communities of West Virginia against the abandonment of the Western Maryland Railway's passenger service from Elkins to Cumberland. M. F. Wright Jr. of Burlington, executive secretary of the West Virginia Public Service Commission, said today in Charleston that the protestants' brief was filed Saturday.

Hearing In February

The legal arguments of the railroad were filed much earlier, he said.

Bonn Brown, Elkins attorney, is representing Elkins, Parsons and other communities located along the railroad.

The railroad filed an application with the West Virginia PSC in January and a hearing was held before the commission in February.

A decision was held up pending the reception of briefs from both parties.

Wright said the commission will take the arguments into consideration and release an opinion shortly.

One Round Trip Daily

The railroad has been operating its passenger train one round trip daily from Elkins to Cumberland and return.

At the first of the year, the Post Office Department did not renew its contract for the railroad to haul mail. Mail to the communities along the railroad is now hauled by truck.

Several years ago the railroad received permission from the PSC to discontinue the passenger that left Cumberland in the morning and returned from Elkins in the afternoon.

Sixth Teenage Beating Noted

Another "teenage beating" case has been reported to City Police, bringing the total number of beatings to six within the past two weeks.

The latest, reported to police last night, involved a Boone Street boy who said he was "roughed up" Tuesday night and again yesterday afternoon.

Police said the boy, Bobby Light, son of C. O. Light, 41 Boone Street, was reportedly beaten by a 17-year-old boy. Police said the Light youngster reported that he heard a shot in the rear of 23 Boone Street on Tuesday and when he went to investigate found the 17-year-old.

The older youth "roughed up" the Light boy, and warned him not to tell anyone about the shooting, police said.

Yesterday the Light boy was attacked on a South End parking lot, apparently by the same youth who stole $3 from him. Officer Clarence Valentine and Lt. Det. James E. Van are investigating.

28 Reservations For Times Tour

Twenty-eight people have made definite reservations and paid the initial $100 for the Times News European Tour scheduled for August 25-September 16.

The Conlon Travel Agency, which is handling details of the tour, says 30 seats have been reserved for the TWA plane leaving New York at 2 p. m. Monday, August 26, for Shannon Airport, Ireland. This means only two more can be accommodated in this Cumberland area party out of a dozen or more who are tentatively considering the trip, which will cost under $1,000 for three weeks and a day visiting Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Switzerland and Italy.

But workmen are still in the midst of altering the dairy building for use by the reserve company.

He said it is hoped that the site will be ready by Armed Forces Day, May 18.

MAY DAY ROYALTY — The May Day festival of Columbia Street School to be held May 24 at 6:30 p. m. at the school will have Carol Hoban as queen and Robert Hartung as king. The queen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoban, 312 Columbia Street while the king is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hartung, 814 Frost Avenue. Attendants will be six princesses and six princes. They are Darlene Baker, Patricia Dooley, Lea Herboldsheimer, Sandra Hershberger, Victoria Iser, Karen Miller, Kent Allison, Ernest Crabtree, Thomas Hoban, George Kiffner, Gary Ross and Craig Sisk.

Defense Department Seeks $9,000,000 For Project

The Department of Defense has asked for an appropriation of $9,000,000 for the Naval radio facility in Sugar Grove, Pendleton County.

The location in mountainous country southwest of here will be an important link in the defense communications system of the nation.

The announced cost of the radio facility was originally in the neighborhood of $29,000,000, according to Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser, (D-2nd W. Va.)

To Employ 300

The station will be manned by about 300 communications personnel, he said in December when the project was released to the public.

The facility will include the purchase of more than 1,300 acres and it is understood that agents of the government have spent some time in appraising land where it is to be located.

The Navy was given $1,400,000 as an initial appropriation for the Sugar Grove job last fiscal year.

Currently, the Navy has three radio towers located on the property. These are temporary ones mounted on trucks.

Only West Virginia Request The Sugar Grove request was the only one made by the Defense Department for West Virginia.

The project, however, marks the second large undertaking in eastern West Virginia.

The Navy Department had originally selected a site in the Green Bank area of Pocahontas County for the construction of this radio facility.

But the location was acquired by the National Science Foundation for the construction of a highly sensitive radio astronomy observatory.

Much progress has been made on this project.

Reserve Area To Be Fenced

L. B. Goss, Cumberland, has been awarded a contract to erect a seven-foot high security fence around the new Army Reserve Armory at 319 Walnut Place.

Goss's bid for the work was $1,429. Awarding the contract was the Department of the Army, Purchasing and Contracting Office, Fort Holabird, Md.

The Army also plans to grade a parking area at the new armory which is being located in the old Farmers Dairy building.

La. Col. Paul W. Fawcett, unit instructor, said the files and other office material has been moved from the Footy Building, location of the reserve armory for a number of years.

But workmen are still in the midst of altering the dairy building for use by the reserve company.

He said it is hoped that the site will be ready by Armed Forces Day, May 18.

Schools Plan Program For New Students

Events Scheduled For Sixth Graders In City May 22

"Orientation Day" for this fall's seventh graders will be held Wednesday, May 22, at Allegheny and Fort Hill high schools.

Preparations for the afternoon's activities were made at a meeting this morning in the Board of Education office.

Principals Attend

Attending were the principals of the two schools, Dr. W. Ardell Haines at Allegheny, and Victor D. Helsey, Fort Hill, and the principals of the Cumberland elementary schools.

Also in on the planning were Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools; Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of school bus transportation, and Misses Mildred Willison, Elizabeth Flake and Winifred Greene, elementary supervisors.

The programs at the high schools start at 1 p. m. on May 22. During an assembly period, they are given information concerning the school, including a map to enable them to find their way about.

Told Of Activities

They are introduced to the principal, assistant principals and guidance teacher, and are told of the opportunities that are available, such as clubs and sports.

The future seventh graders are given a tour with one of the stops being the cafeteria where they are told how it operates.

Where it is necessary, school buses are used to transport the children to their first look at high school.

Celanese Has Income Drop

Celanese Corporation of America and domestic subsidiaries today reported net income of $2,912,620 after charges and taxes, for the three months ended March 31, 1957. These first quarter earnings, equivalent to 30 cents a share of common stock, compare with last year's first quarter earnings of $3,461,768 equivalent to 39 cents a common share.

Net sales for the first three months of 1957 totaled $46,852,931 compared with $48,477,837 net sales for the comparable 1956 period.

In making the report, President Harold Blanche said, "The sales volume in both chemicals and plastics continued to increase. However, the movement to reduce inventories to a minimum in the textile industry resulted in a decline in sales of yarns and fibers. This should place the industry on a much healthier basis and result in improved business later in the year."

Some work in connection with storm and sanitary sewers is also included in the project.

Time For Help-Yourself Spring Vegetable Salad

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Scallions, endive, romaine and radishes, tomatoes and tender leaves of spinach, also pale green celery tops, crisp cucumber slices and curls of young carrots form a glorious spring salad in a large, deep bowl.

There are several dressings—oil and wine vinegar or lemon juice, prepared French dressing in bottles, mixes in envelopes easy to use. But most enthusiasts for the taste of fresh salad greens will tell you that just good oil (olive, if possible) and wine vinegar (some prefer lemon juice) with salt and pepper is the most delightful.

Help-Yourself Spring Vegetable Salad (Six-eight servings)

Wash 1 head curly endive and 1 head romaine lettuce and pat dry. Tear into bite-size pieces. Place in a garlic-rubbed salad bowl over which arrange clusters of the following vegetables: 2 bunches spring onions (scallions); 2 carrots, shaved into long, thin curls with a vegetable peeler and then chilled in ice water; 1 bunch radishes, cut into rosettes; 1/2 cucumber, thinly sliced; 2 tomatoes, cut into wedges. self to the greens and vegetables. Season as desired with salad oil, fresh lemon juice, salt and pepper. Garnish with fresh parsley.

Caesar Salad (Six servings) Wash a large head of romaine. Sauté 2 cup 1/2-inch bread cubes in lettuce. Dry and tear into bite-size pieces. Place in a garlic-rubbed salad bowl. Sprinkle with 1/4 teaspoon powdered dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons olive oil and 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice.

Break an egg into the bowl. Toss to mix thoroughly so that no trace of the egg is seen. Just before serving, add croutons and 3 dried anchovy fillets and toss lightly. Serve at once.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Beef and veal meat loaf, mushroom gravy, baked potatoes, new peas, enriched bread, butter or margarine, spring vegetable salad, oil and vinegar dressing, lemon flake cake, coffee, tea, milk.

The Orient Furnishes Unusual Shrimp Dishes

By GAYNOR MADDOX

We have two unusual shrimp recipes flown straight from the Orient. The first, from the Grand Hotel at Taipei, Formosa, uses both hot pepper sauce and ginger. Therefore, it is not for those who prefer bland food.

Shrimp in Hot Sauce

(Four servings)

One pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, 4 tablespoons olive oil or other cooking oil, 1 medium onion, sliced, 4 tablespoons tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon hot pepper sauce, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger.

Shell and devein shrimp (or use frozen peeled and deveined shrimp). Sauté the onion in the oil, stirring constantly and breaking the onion into rings with a fork. Add the shrimp and sauté for 5 minutes. Add tomato sauce, Worcestershire sauce, hot pepper sauce, salt, sugar, and ginger. Cover and let simmer for another 5 minutes. Serve on rice.

The other recipe, also brought to us by Margaret McEachern of Northwest Orient Airlines, is less hot. She found it in the Philippines at the Manila Hotel, recently restored after room-to-room fighting during World War II.

Creamed Shrimp and Mushrooms

In Toast Timbales (Six servings) One and one-half pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cup milk, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1 tablespoon minced pimiento, 1 small can sliced mushrooms, 6 toast timbales.

Clean shrimp and cook by boiling 3 to 5 minutes in water to which salt has been added. Melt butter in large saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour. Add milk; stir constantly until sauce has thickened. Add pepper, celery salt, pimiento and mushrooms. Add cooked shrimp. Serve in toast timbales.

Toast Timbales

For each timbale roll a slice of enriched yeast-raised bread with a rolling pin to 1/4-inch thickness. Trim the crusts with scissors. Brush both sides with melted margarine or butter. Set in muffin pan or individual baking dish. With fingers, press the center edges of the bread toward the middle to make a tulip shape. Bake at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven) until lightly browned.

Tomorrow's dinner: Creamed shrimp and mushrooms in toast timbales, steamed rice, broiled tomato halves, soft rolls, butter or margarine, spring salad, fresh fruit cup, ready-mix chocolate chip cake, coffee, tea, milk.

Frying Almonds

Dump almonds into the basket of your deep-fat fryer, having the fat heated to 365 degrees. Fry for a couple of minutes, then drain and sprinkle lightly with a seasoning salt. Serve as a first course with tomato juice for a buffet party.

Sugar In Sugar Beets

The average 2-pound sugar beet contains fourteen teaspoonsful of sugar.

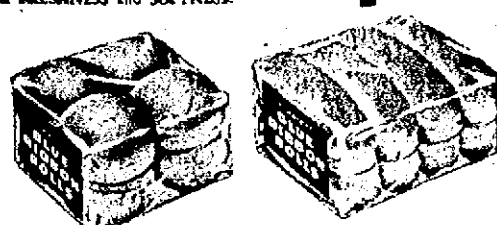

Brown or white eggs are used interchangeably; their color has no relation to quality, flavor or food value.

Ever try sprinkling a bit of nutmeg on boiled rice for flavor accent? Delicious when served with poultry.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: School boy, in love with teacher, asks how to handle this "terrible" problem.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a school boy, and I have a very terrible problem which must solve if I am to stay in school. I am in love with a teacher in our school, and I mean seriously.

You may think it is a crush and call me a silly boy; but to me it is very real. And to add to my trouble, this beautiful teacher doesn't teach any of my classes. I have to be satisfied with watching her come to school in the mornings with her husband. I usually watch for her from behind a tree, as I don't want her to see me.

Says His Friends Don't Understand

She saw me the other day and smiled at me. I couldn't concentrate on my work all day, and another teacher gave me a detention. I didn't even mind this, as I thought I might see the beautiful teacher after school.

All my friends laugh at me and tease me; and I just had to take a chance that you won't laugh too. I don't know where else to turn for help, as my friends don't understand.

I am only 14 and in Grade 9, but still I can feel emotions as older boys do, and I know that I am in love with this teacher. As this is an impossible situation, would appreciate your guidance in solving the problem. Please answer soon. T. W.

Understanding Is Beneficial

DEAR T. W.: I am glad you felt that I could be trusted to take the situation seriously, in terms of recognizing its importance to you. Right you are: I firmly believe that feelings are to be respected and understood—not laughed off, just because they happen to differ from the "expected" pattern.

You refer to your overwhelming interest in the lovely teacher as "a very terrible problem." Well, literally, it isn't that alarming. When emotions give trouble, understanding is half of cure, as a rule.

Almost everybody is bothered at times by inappropriate bursts of feeling; that is, by emotional drives or trains of fantasy that run contrary to common sense. Among such emotions are destructive anger, blind fear, jealousy, greed, etc., as well as intense romantic interest in "forbidden" persons, (those already married), or strangers (such as movie stars).

This Isn't Love; It Is From Hunger

You speak of being in love with the beautiful teacher; and you assume, or course, that you are in love, but the fact is, you're not. Love has to do with really knowing and actively, helpfully caring for the other person. True love can't exist except in a situation of give-and-take.

What may develop, like a mirage, at long range, as in your case, is simply a state of hungry imagination—either on one side, or maybe on both sides. When persons set store by this state of imagination, and cling to it (in fantasy) as a substitute for genuine, familiar, first-hand caring, it usually means that they are habitually lonely and out of tune with life "as is" in their daily environment. I think this is the essence of your problem.

You refer to friends, who laugh at you and tease you—but are they friends? Aren't they just acquaintances, rather, who probably see you as a loner, or a bit of an odd-ball, maybe? Do they know you like a brother? Can you let your hair down with them confidentially?

Friendships Give Balance

I think if you had real pals at school, you wouldn't be free to hide behind a tree to watch teacher arrive. Some crony would be at your elbow, taking up your time, accidentally blocking this moonstruck idea—if you were a sociable type.

Moreover, if you were the sociable type, you wouldn't be so "gone" on teacher. The satisfactions and supports of tried-and-true friendships would automatically keep you in better balance.

Now for advice: You should have first-hand help, from a friendly adult, in learning to come out of your shell and be more of a doer, and less of a dreamer. So, is it possible to make friends of the teacher and her husband—maybe by having your parents ask them to dinner occasionally?

To properly manage inappropriate feelings, be aware of them, recognize their "senseless" quality and let them slide. Don't consider "acting them out."—M.H.

Keep Pie Shell Crisp

Cool a cooked filling before adding it to a pie shell; this little trick may help you to avoid a soggy crust.

Ham Salad In Rolls

Hollow out crusty rolls and fill with ham salad. Wrap in aluminum foil and bake in moderate oven until hot through.

How often have you been caught "in the middle of the stream" with only an hour's notice that guests are coming for lunch? Frenzied thoughts run through your mind as to what to feature on the menu. You suddenly wish you had an "emergency reference" file. Why not start one right away—and here's a No. 1 idea for just such a file—Maize Muffins.

These pretty little muffins take just a jiffy to make. Use a package of your favorite corn muffin mix plus some "extras" and you are well on the way to preparing a treat beyond compare. The grated cheese that is in the recipe gives the Maize Muffins an added tender melt-in-your-mouth flavor, while the sesame seed that adorns the top gives each one an extra gourmet touch.

We suggest serving your favorite meal-in-one salad with the muffins plus steaming cups of tea. Add a twining ivy for the centerpiece and your "last minute" luncheon table will be truly picture pretty!—And you'll have two minutes to spare before your guests arrive!

Maize Muffins

Muffins:—
One 12-oz. package corn muffin mix
1 egg
½ cup milk
½ cup grated sharp cheese
Topping:—
1 teaspoon sesame seed

Empty contents of package in to bowl; add egg, milk and cheese. Blend until dry ingredients are well moistened; batter will be lumpy. Half fill greased muffin cups; sprinkle each muffin with sesame seed. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 12 medium-sized muffins.

Sailor Hitched Despite Hitches

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—On the eve of his marriage, Navy Seaman Wayne Gifford found he was unable to get a license because he was not 21.

Gifford, 19, telephoned his mother in Columbia, Tenn. She hurried to a notary and gave her consent to the marriage in an affidavit. Then, she drove 43 miles to the Nashville airport.

An airlines pilot relayed the affidavit to another pilot at Fort Worth, Texas. It was delivered to sailor Gifford in time for him to get the license and become a bridegroom on schedule.

Cat Caught In Car's Motor, Legs Broken

MOUNT VERNON, Ky. (AP)—Robert Simon finally learned why the generator of his new car wasn't working.

A mechanic found a big yellow cat under the hood. It apparently had become entangled in the fan belt, throwing it out of position and halting the generator.

The car's trouble was remedied easily. The cat's wasn't. It had two broken legs.

Talented Mrs. Adams Has Fingers In Many Pies

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Like many wives of top government officials, with a crammed schedule of official and social engagements, Mrs. Sherman Adams still manages to devote a good share of her time to her family, her private interests and her hobbies. The gentle-mannered, alert wife of the President's top as-

Congressional Club since her husband served a term in the House before becoming governor of New Hampshire, is a member of its program committee. In the studio she fixed up in her home, a handsomely remodeled barn and mill, the stone part of which dates back about 150 years, she has invited a group of friends to share painting lessons once or twice a week. Mrs. Stassen and Mrs. Snyder are in the group along with Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of the Philippine Ambassador, Mrs. Percival F. Brundage, wife of the budget director, and Mrs. Robert Madison.

Many of the paintings in her home are her copies of masterpieces in the National Gallery, done to "learn techniques." Original art also adorns and gives personality to her home, like the tiles topping her coffee table which chart and highlight the course of an Adams trip abroad.

With her lively gray eyes, slender figure and youthful freshness, it is hard to believe Mrs. Adams is a grandmother of seven. Their names are engraved on gold bracelet discs. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. William S. Freeze of Pittsfield, has presented her with four grandchildren; another daughter, Mrs. William M. Hal-

Nut-Mushroom Omelet Praised

When you want to whip up a quick meal that is both satisfying and easy on the pocketbook, try a nut and mushroom omelet. A popular guest house in Maine satisfies their customers' appetites with this unusual omelet.

When this dressed-up omelet is served with a soup that has some authority, plus fresh fruits over for dessert, you have a balanced, satisfying meal.

Just follow these four easy steps and your omelet will be ready to serve.

Black-Bottom Pie Urged For Change

For your next dessert, serve black-bottom pie for a handsome flavor duel. The lower deck is a smooth vanilla custard filling. To make this two-tone filling, stir up only one custard and then divide it in half. Melt semi-sweet chocolate pieces in one part, and chill in a baked pastry shell. To the remaining custard, add gelatin and chill until partially set, then fold into stiff-beaten egg whites. Now pile this vanilla custard filling atop the "black bottom" of chocolate custard.

To top it off, shower the pie with curls of unsweetened chocolate slivers, and add banana slices.

Spiced Sweet Potato Puffs

Next time you whip sweet potatoes try adding a little cinnamon and ground cloves and cinnamon along with your usual seasonings. Heap in mounds and place a marshmallow dipped in pineapple juice in the center of each. Broil until brown.

Lime Perks Up Breakfast Nectar

Perk up breakfast appetites with glasses of flavorful fruit nectars served with wedges of fresh lime. The tangy accent of lime juice sparks apricot, peach or pear nectar.

Put a refreshing dessert like this together in minutes. Combine canned applesauce and plump seedless raisins with whipped cream. Chill in spicy crumb crust, prepared as for graham cracker shell, using cinnamon crackers in place of graham.

Cranberries And Meat

No gravy left from that pot roast? Slice the leftover meat, crust, prepared as for graham cracker shell, using cinnamon berry sauce.

Demitasse Coffee Adds Elegance To Simple Dinner

Even the simplest dinner takes on elegance when it ends with the serving of demitasse coffee. In the soft glow of candlelight, dainty cups of fragrant after-dinner coffee set the scene for the best kind of leisurely conversation.

Although demitasse coffee turns any dinner into an occasion, the coffee itself is surprisingly easy to make. There are three ways to make it: American-style, Italian, and espresso.

Italian demitasse is regular coffee but half again as strong. Measure the dark-roast coffee into the sieve and put it in your favorite coffee pot together with the cylinder having the spout on top, and with measured water in the lower cylinder. Place the machinetta over heat to 6 Standard Coffee Measures (or 12 level measuring tablespoons) of coffee — depending on the strength desired. This will yield six 4-ounce servings or eight 3-ounce servings. You can serve this delicious brew in small glasses or, of course, in your daintiest demitasse cups. The twist of lemon in this case is an Italian must, while sugar is optional.

How To Make Espresso Coffee: The very last word in after-dinner coffees is espresso. Espresso coffee-makers use steam pressure to brew this black-as-your-hat beverage, and small espresso machines are available for home use. The amount of coffee brewed is determined by the capacity of each machine.

Since there are a number of different kinds of espresso makers on the market, it is impossible to give general directions for their use. However, all seem to be relatively simple to operate and each comes with its own set of instructions. Dark-roast, finely ground coffee is always used for espresso.

Chickens, Chuck Roasts On List As 'Best Buys'

By The Associated Press

Chickens and chuck roast will be featured in many supermarkets and grocery stores this weekend. One chain cut chicken prices 8 cents a pound in the New York area, to the lowest level since last December. Elsewhere, prices were somewhat irregular. Pork prices were cut 2 to 6 cents a pound in many areas, and rib roast of beef also was lower in some areas.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture expects supplies of chickens, already high, to increase further in the next few months. Hatchlings during the first quarter were 6 per cent larger than last year.

More Vegetables Available

With the advent of better growing weather, more and more vegetables from nearby fields are becoming available, giving the bargain-hunting housewife a better selection to choose from.

This week, for instance, new green cabbage is rated close to an outstanding buy, along with spinach, kale, green onions and radishes. Asparagus is nearing the peak of its season with the big New Jersey crop added to the California variety available for several weeks.

Carrots, beets, parsnips and white turnips also are rated outstanding buys, while good buys may be found among iceberg and romaine lettuce, sweet corn, escarole, chicory, eggplant, red and white varieties of potatoes from Florida, broccoli, peppers, cucumbers and salad greens.

Green beans also are good in some areas, but have a wide range of quality and condition. Cauliflower, pascal celery, tomatoes and yellow and green squash are moderately priced in many areas.

Rhubarb Is Good Buy

Production of mushrooms is at its highest peak of the year with the crop expected to run somewhat ahead of last year's. The prime growing areas are Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, California and Michigan. Rhubarb is figured to be the best buy at fruit centers as outdoor varieties join the hothouse types sold earlier this spring.

Valencia oranges and lemons from Florida, plus California navel oranges and lemons, give mothers plenty of fruit to squeeze for breakfast, or for the kids' refreshment when they come in from playing on warm afternoons. Several varieties of grapefruit also are still rated as good buys.

Washington apples, Oregon pears and California avocados are more moderately priced.

Salad Tips

Delicate, rich Calava avocado wedges and lingering sections make an attractive salad. Arrange individual servings on leaf of romaine and top with a creamy blue cheese dressing. Canned mandarin oranges or fresh orange slices are good, if tangerines are not available.

Kitchen economy: The uncooked heart and gizzard of a small broiling chicken may be brushed with melted butter or margarine and broiled with the rest of the chicken during the last 15 or 20 minutes of cooking. Turn the heart and gizzard as necessary.

Hot Canapes Espagnol Urged

Hot bites of food such as hot canapes espagnol taste good at cocktail time, but they are often difficult to prepare.

To make hot canapes, saute bits of seafood in a chafing dish or electric skillet, right at the cocktail table. You can let everybody do their own, but it's no work to do it for a crowd.

The simplest way of cooking is to place a tablespoon of butter in the pan, and when this has melted, add half a dozen raw scallops, or half a dozen cleaned shrimp, a can of crab meat or flaked South African rock lobster tails. Cook for a minute, stir, then pour over this a quarter cup of dry Spanish sherry, either a fino type or a nutty amonillado, and cook for another minute.

Serve on a variety of crackers crisped in the oven, along with a bowl of raw vegetables. Such bits of food are called tapas in Spain, and are served with glasses of dry fino.

Asparagus Is Tasty Delight

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Spring can show no brighter sight to a cook's watchful eye, than asparagus piled high in food-market stalls. What could taste better than those first green stalks, cooked lovingly and sauced appropriately?

Pay no attention to recipes that direct you to tie the asparagus in a bunch and lower it into the bottom of a double boiler or a coffee percolator. The idea behind this advice is to have the bottom of the stalks and the tender tips cook in the same length of time. Unnecessary bother, we say! Arrange the stalks in a deep skillet, add a small amount of boiling water, cover and cook 12 to 15 minutes—depending on the thickness of the asparagus. Lift the cover of the skillet several times to help keep the vegetable green.

But one caution. This method of cooking is for asparagus stalks that are peeled. Not to remove the outer covering of the lower part of the stalk is barbaric, in our opinion. Use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler for the job and you can do it in no time at all.

Ever since we tasted browned butter with fresh asparagus and artichokes we have known this simple combination was heaven-sent. But recently we came upon a variation of the classic sauce that is a pleasant offshoot. Here's how to concoct it.

IT HAPPENS EVERY SPRING . . . fresh asparagus in brown butter sauce.

Method: Melt the butter over very low heat in a small saucepan. Just as it begins to take on a pale brown color, stir in the flour. Continue stirring while sauce bubbles and foams and turns to a hazelnut brown color. Remove from heat at once and stir in lemon juice. Stir off heat until foaminess subsides and serve at once over 1½ to 2 pounds of freshly-cooked hot drained asparagus. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Good Eating Reminders

May we call your attention to some epicurean ways to serve the freshly cooked green asparagus stalks?

1. Brown fine bread or cracker crumbs in butter and sprinkle over the hot drained stalks.
2. Dunk the hot drained stalks in melted butter and sprinkle with bits of crispy cooked bacon and canned pimiento.
3. Cut the drained stalks fine and reheat in a fine cream sauce made with chicken stock. Spoon into flaky pastry tart shells and garnish each with a slice of hard-cooked egg, a sprinkle of paprika and a caper-rolled anchovy.
4. Marinate the drained stalks in a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar and prepared mustard. Serve with slices of tomato.
5. Melt some butter in a big skillet and add a layer of shredded rice cereal squares; sprinkle with garlic powder and brown lightly, stirring often. Remove from heat and stir in a good sprinkling of grated Romano or Parmesan cheese; the cheese should melt a little and stick to the cereal squares. Serve these tidbits with the hot drained asparagus stalks.

Stuffed Ripe Olive Appetizer Bites

Exciting party appetizers are these stuffed ripe olive bites. Fill centers of pitted ripe olives with slivers of green onion. Wrap in cheese pastry, made by adding grated cheese to pastry mix. Bake in hot oven until lightly browned.

Pork Accompaniment

Cooked dried lima beans, seasoned with onion and brown sugar, are delicious served with pork.

Peanut Cookies Make You Smack Your Lips

Here's a treat that'll make salt, and add to the above mixture. Then stir 2 cups oatmeal, 1 cup cornflakes, 1 cup whole salted peanuts, add 1 teaspoon vanilla into the above and drop on cookie sheet. Bake in 350 Fahrenheit preheated oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until done.

Give a festive touch to everyday dinners by serving glasses of chilled table wine. Red table wines for robust entrees of spaghetti, pot roasts or meat loaf and white table wine for fish and fowl are suggested.

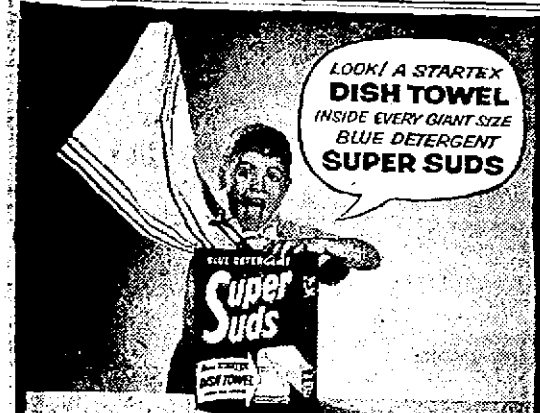

Wine-Mushroom Sauce On Chops

Bake pork chops in a wine-mushroom sauce for company dinner.

Brown chops in heavy skillet, season, and top with green pepper rings. Mix sauterne or other white table wine with undiluted mushroom soup and pour around meat. Cover and bake to tenderness.

Serve with cooked rice or noodles and glasses of chilled table wine.

Close County Race Will Resume Tomorrow

Valley Nine, Alco Clash In Feature Of Circuit

John McCauley, who has been a mainstay of the Capon Bridge line for the past three years, must have set some sort of record in his last two pitching appearances for the Indians.

The right-hander has missed consecutive no-hitters by just two safeties. Against West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney last Friday a bingle by Bill McCoy deprived him of a hitless performance. Dorman Godlove was the culprit Tuesday afternoon when he connected for a single in the second frame for Mathias.

But the 1955 PVC batting champ has one consolation—he won both games. West Virginia beat Jell, 8-0, and Mathias was set down, 17-1. In sending his won-lost record to 5-1, the five-eleven hurler also boosted his area-leading strikeout mark to 60.

The Capon veteran's only loss was a 3-2 decision to Berkeley Springs.

Allegany's Ronnie Diehl, the slugging first sacker, saw his batting average dip lower than .700 by going one for five in the win over LaSalle Tuesday. Diehl, who led the Allegany County League in extra-base swatting last spring, dropped 133 points from .733 to .500 in being held to the lone safety.

The drop also cost Ronnie the lead in the batting race with Bob Ahern of Bruce jumping to the top perch.

Ahern, who had been hitting second behind Diehl at .700, fell off in his average but his mark of .642 is lofty enough to pace everybody.

Durable Jesse Markley of Fort Hill has never been solved for so many hits in one game during his four-year hurling career as he was Tuesday afternoon in beating Bruce. Jesse was apparently just another pitcher to the Bulldogs who socked 14 safeties over the field.

He was just another pitcher until faced with a no-out, bases-loaded situation in the last frame (the extra-inning 10th) when he needed to call on all his savvy to get out of the mess and preserve another Sentinel victory.

Proof of his stout heartedness was never more evident as the stocky moundman got his first man on a force out at home and then breezed the third strike past the next two batters.

The victory, which may prove to be a very important one for the defending champs, was the 23rd in 27 loop decisions for Markley since he nailed down his first for the Hilltoppers in the spring of 1954.

Dave Cole, who used to wage the stirring Junior American Legion pitching duels with Cumberland's Pat Creegan back in the days following World War II, has been shipped to Pueblo, Colo., of the Class A Western League by the Brooklyn Dodgers. Dave had been on the roster of St. Paul of the American Association.

The 26-year-old Williamsport native, according to columnist Joe Snyder of the Hagerstown Herald, would like very much to work his way back into the majors. He needs only 48 more days of big league service in order to become eligible for five-year pension benefits.

The southpaw star first signed with the old Boston Braves fresh out of high school in 1948 and saw major league duty with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies in addition to the Braves.

The parent Brooklyn organization told Cole that they were sending him down in order to rebuild his confidence and give him a chance of working regularly. He will be hurling in the same circuit with Tom Richards, former Beall High star who is back with Colorado Springs after a brief fling with Indianapolis this spring. Tom is a Chicago White Sox farmhand.

A former Hagerstown High all-around athlete, "Tubby" Stoller has been put on the roster of Jamestown of the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League by the Pirates. Stoller was one of the flashy backs who starred for coach Mel Henry's football Hubs here the past few seasons.

He inked a pact with the Pirates early last year and the Picaroonie brass expects big things from the former Hub infield star.

He had a poor season in his first year of organized ball by hitting only .214 for Brunswick of the Georgia-Florida League in 1956 but has shown enough for the Bucs to believe he'll start coming around this summer.

If life doesn't begin at 40, it must start close to that age. Proof was never more evident of the statement than in the fifth (Continued on Page 19)

The Allegany County Baseball League race is still pretty much of an open affair but tomorrow two of the contending clubs will meet to help quell some title ambitions.

The circuit will have a full card of four contests with most of the attention being focused on the Allegany-at-Valley scrap which will be played at Barton.

Still In Race

Both the Campers and Knights are still very much alive in the championship picture with the "Detmold Dandies" having yet to lose in two decisions. The Knights, however, have played to a pair of deadlocks with Beall of Frostburg and Port Hill.

Allegany has been bettered only once for four games and also has played to a tie-1-1 against Beall last week.

The Black Knights, along with Port Hill, are the only undefeated nines in the loop. Allegany holds down third place with its 3-1 mark while Beall is fourth with 2-1 and Bruce of Westernport fifth with a .500 showing in four starts.

The Sentinels, who dropped Beall from the unbeaten ranks Monday afternoon, 3-0, will be angling for their fifth without a defeat tomorrow as the Red Raiders are host to Flintstone.

The charges of coach Bobby Cavanaugh, not counting the 9-9 draw with Valley, have clipped off nine straight wins in the loop since the late stages of the 1956 campaign.

Flintstone has only one victory to show for its five starts, the Aggies being shut out, 7-0, yesterday by LaSalle's Bill Blake at Stichter Field.

Bruce and Beall will tangle in Frostburg with the Mounties hoping to stay close in the race. A loss for either club would greatly cut down title hopes for the season.

Explorers Win First

LaSalle, collecting its first win in five games yesterday with the white washing of the Flintstone nine, will shoot for No. 2 tomorrow afternoon by invading Mt. Savage. The Indians, Explorers and Flintstone are now in a tie for the cellar with their 1-4 marks.

The first-half race will conclude next Tuesday with Fort Hill and Allegany meeting at LaSalle. Bruce invading Flintstone and Valley taking on Mt. Savage in Barton.

With rain-outs and tie games, all the clubs have made up contests for the seven-game first-half slate.

Two PVC Battles

In the Potomac Valley Conference this afternoon two important tilts were carded with unbeaten Moorefield and Elk Garden involved in the big clashes. The Yellow Jackets were after their 28th win in a row over the past four years and seventh this season by meeting Petersburg on the Moorefield diamond.

Elk Garden, still hot on the heels of the defending-champion Jackets, puts its 5-0 mark up against Keyser on the latter's home grounds. Both the Elks and Jackets can sweep their series against today's rivals with Moorefield clopping the Vikings, 15-5, and Elk Garden nipping Keyser, 2-1, last week.

Two other PVC tilts were scheduled today with Capon Bridge at Romney and Berkeley Springs at Wardsville. The Indians have lost only once in eight games while Romney has yet to score a decision in five attempts.

LaSalle pulled a surprise on Flintstone in yesterday's triumph, with coach Norma Sell gave Blake the starting role. The sophomore lefty set the invaders down with only four hits and fanned 10.

Blake "Handy At Bat" Also

The local got away fast with a three-run first, added two in the fourth and single tallies in the fifth and sixth. Blake also proved a big man with the bat as he punched out a perfect day at the plate with a homer and brace of singles.

Rich Murray and "Chazz" Imes also walked four-baggers for the winners. Wayne Boggs absorbed the setback in going all the way for the Aggies.

Practice Schedule

Eagles of Rocking Chair League today, 5:30, at Stichter Field.
Moose of Rocking Chair League today, 5:30, at Penn Avenue Field.

JUST CAN'T MAKE IT AGAIN—Downed in fifth, Gene Fullmer tries to struggle to his feet to continue middleweight title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson. But he is too befuddled and rubbery legs just won't manage for the champ. As referee Frank Sikora gestures ten count, he pitches forward on face again—an ex-champ. (AP Photofax)

Pudgy Moore Given Threat For Title Go

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—A pudgy Archie Moore today slipped inside a warning punch from the National Boxing Assn., which threatens to suspend the light-heavyweight champ unless he defends his crown by July 7, with a maybe-1 will-and-maybe-I-won't answer to the ultimatum.

"Look at me, man," said Moore. "I'm 30 pounds overweight. Who wants to see me in a title fight in this shape?"

The old guy whose age figures to be somewhere around 40—probably over—didn't have to tell anyone he was overweight. He was a lanky and puffing champ, as he somehow fasted to rounds to outpoint Hans Kalfelb, Germany's third-ranked heavyweight, yesterday.

Moore was 206½ pounds, Kalfelb 210.

The NBA released its ultimatum to the press in Chicago at just about the same time Moore was wrapping up his fight here. In brief, the NBA told Moore he'll face suspension unless he defends against New Yorker Tony Anthony "as scheduled" in Detroit June 7, and the U. S. boxing authority will vacate the title if he doesn't get around to making a defense by July 7.

Tar Heels, Duke Share ACC Lead

All Atlantic Coast Conference baseball teams took a rest today with two teams sharing the driver's seat.

North Carolina scored a run in the tenth inning yesterday and took a 6-5 victory over Duke. The victory avenged an earlier loss to the Blue Devils and moved the Tar Heels into a first-place tie with defending champion Duke.

Two ACC teams lost games to non-conference foes yesterday. Maryland dropping a 9-5 decision to Navy and Clemson yielding to Furman 5-3.

Andy McDonald slugged two home runs, driving in all five of Maryland's runs, but they weren't enough to stop Navy's midshipmen. Lethander Fred Gebhardt pitched all nine innings for Maryland, giving up 14 hits in experiencing his third loss of the season against three wins.

Dick Smith, who started for Navy, gave up six hits in winning his fourth victory, against no losses.

Andy Massimino paced Navy's hitting with three safeties.

Rowing Events An All-Day Job

PRINCETON (NEA)—Heats in the 12th annual heavyweight sprint championships of the Eastern Association of Rowing Colleges will begin on Lake Carnegie at 9 a. m. on May 18. Finals start at 5 p. m.

The three championships—for freshman, junior varsity and varsity—comprise 18 races, including for the first time a consolation race in each of the three classes.

The EARC lightweight championships will be held the same day on the Severn River at Annapolis, beginning at 4 p. m. There will be no heats, all three races, at one-hour intervals, being finals.

Syracuse has seven sophomores, members of the freshman crew that won the IRA championship last year, in its varsity shell this spring. Practically in reverse, Cornell, which won the varsity IRA title as well as the sprints, has a boatload of seniors from bow to coxswain.

Sugar May Fight Basilio In Summer

CHICAGO (INS)—Sugar Ray Robinson, whose flashy fists have punished formidable opponents for close to 20 years, today can add Gene Fullmer and even old Father Time to his long list of beaten foes.

The lithe-limbed Robinson, who will officially be 37 years old tomorrow, knocked out Fullmer with a smashing right hand to the jaw in one minute and 27 seconds of the fifth round last night to regain the middleweight championship he lost to the Utah strong boy last January.

End Comes Suddenly

The end of the bruising, give-and-take battle came with startling suddenness for the crowd of 14,757 fans who paid $158,643 to see the scheduled 15-round return bout at the Chicago Stadium.

Robinson, fighting gallantly against the rushing, bull-like Fullmer, was hit low by his 25-year-old opponent in the third round, obviously an accidental punch, and doubled up in pain.

He continued to lash back at the Utah husky for the rest of the round and in a punishing fourth in which he seemed to tire with each slugging minute.

But Robinson, classified by ring experts as one of the greatest fighters of all time, still had a reservoir of strength, courage and hitting power at his command.

He called on them all as he moved in for the kill against Fullmer in the fifth round. Gene fell to the floor as though he had been hit on the head by one of his own copper welding heavy hammers. He tried to push himself erect but pitched forward again on to his face.

Fullmer was counted out by referee Frank Sikora as the startled and wildly cheering crowd cheered the toll of the fatal blow.

Basilio May Be Next

Robinson said after the fight that his immediate plans are uncertain, although the International Boxing Club has offered him a title fight with welterweight champion Carmen Basilio this summer.

Sugar Ray said:

"It was a very rough fight. I owe my success to the millions who had faith in me and prayed for me."

"Joe Louis came to my aid and was with me almost every day in the gym helping with his great knowledge of boxing."

"I owe my thanks to Father Joe Lang, too, a clergyman, friend, for his spiritual help."

Robinson said he believed a left hook to Fullmer's jaw as Gene came tearing in was the real finishing blow. He added:

"Got the Message"

"I don't know how hard it was but he got the message."

"It was a real gentleman and fought a nice fight."

There was no provision in the contract for a return bout for Fullmer, who probably will have to re-establish himself as a contender.

Fullmer, who went to Robinson's dressing room to congratulate him, said he was "a little bit hurt" but was "a little better."

Gran Hammer May Be Back As Shortstop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Veteran Gran Hammer plans to take in field drill and batting practice today in what may develop into a move to return him to regular duty.

Hammer, three times a National League All-Star infielder, has turned to pitching after a left shoulder injury, which hampered his batting, shunted him to the sidelines last season.

In one appearance on the mound this season against New York, he pitched one inning, striking out one and giving up one hit.

Hammer has played both shortstop and second base. The Philadelphia Phillies have been using Ted Kuzski at second and Chico Verandez at short. Both qualify as rookies although Kuzski has played in the majors for the past few seasons. Neither can match Hammer at the plate.

Last night, Hammer fouled out in a pinch hitting role as Cincinnati beat the Phillies 8-6 in 16 innings.

Owes Taxes to Government

Robinson and Fullmer each got 30 per cent of the net gate and shared in the same fashion in the $100,000 television-radio receipts.

It was estimated that each man earned a check for $57,480. Out of his purse, Sugar Ray must pay $23,000 in back taxes he owes to the federal government.

It was the first knockout of Fullmer's 44-fight career.

Horses Vaccinated Against 'Sleepiness'

CAMDEN, N. J. (NEA)—More than 100 thoroughbreds quartered at Garden State Park for the 25th day spring meeting are being vaccinated against encephalomyelitis or equine sleeping sickness.

This is a precautionary measure instituted by the three major racing associations of New Jersey. It is the hope to have all Cingerman's, 421; Willard Auvil, carrying mosquitoes become pre-valent.

The vaccine is injected under the skin of the left side of the forehead, Purple Heart, 338; and neck, thus reducing the period of soreness. No horse has been kept out of training as a result.

The sleeping sickness disease has been of vital concern for some points in one match, highest for the season; and Evelyn Gray for her 421 points which was tops for the year. A prize also went to Jean Pugh of Southern Bar Pitcher Jim Paugh is from Rosemont, Pa., and pitcher Dave Floyd is from Chattanooga, Tenn.

Charles Aycock, Jim Marner, Danny Droze and Dick Reston are from Washington, D. C.

Gen. Duke's Status Still Question For Derby Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bold Ruler, favorite for Saturday's running of the Kentucky Derby with Gen. Duke's starting status still a question mark, was the first horse to be entered for the $125,000 added turf classic.

He was entered yesterday before his 82-year-old trainer, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, departed for a visit to Lexington, Ky., but an announcement of his entry was withheld until the box opened today.

"Let Of Soreness"

Trainer Jimmy Jones reported that "a lot of the soreness in Gen. Duke's left front foot had been relieved but that they had not been able to localize the injury."

"We still may not know whether we can run him until 45 minutes before the 4:30 p.m. EST post time."

"I hope to put a shoe on him later today and give the sore foot a more thorough test," Jones added. "It is just like a man with a stomach ache. You just have to wait until he gets over it."

Gen. Duke first showed signs of the bruised foot several hours after running second to Federal Hill Tuesday.

Round Table First

The first name actually to be dropped into the entry box today was that of Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, winner of the Bay Meadows Derby and Blue Grass Stakes in recent time. "I just hope it stays nice and clear," said trainer Jack Williams.

Trainer Johnny Nerad was next in with Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, the smallest horse in the race.

Secretary Allan Levin also said the race considers John Applebaum's Mister Jive an official entry. The entry fee of $250 was wired to Churchill Downs yesterday shortly after word was received that the Canadian-owned colt would be flown to Louisville today.

Clifford Lusk's fast Federal Hill was the fifth horse entered. Trainer Woody Stephens stepped reports that the Cain Hay One-Eyed King might be in the field when he said: "It is too tough for me. We'll look elsewhere for purses."

V. R. Wright followed a few minutes later with the entry of T. A. Grissom's Shan Pac with J. R. Adams listed as the rider. Trainer Jimmy Conway was right behind him with the entry of Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Indian Creek.

Bold Ruler Made Favorite For Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bold Ruler, the long-striding dark bay colt from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, today became the probable favorite for the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby Saturday.

The question of whether his injured arch rival Gen. Duke of Calumet Farm will start remained unanswered.

Gen. Duke, who broke even with Bold Ruler in four Florida races and set a world record for a mile and one eighth in the Florida Derby, first showed signs of the injury hours after he finished disappointing second to Clifford Lusk's Federal Hill in Tuesday's Derby Trial.

An X-ray examination showed a bad bruise, similar to the injury suffered by the speedy son of Bull Lea in the Florida Derby and to a lesser degree in a special race

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Married to alcohol, wife sees children demoralized by turmoil.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I could write volumes on my tale of woe, but will try to be brief. Seventeen years ago I married Henry, when I was 18 and he was 26. We had gone steady for three years, so you see I had dated very little.

We have two nice children in their early teens and our home life is making them insecure, tussy and irresponsible. They've never had good parental example. Their father has been an alcoholic most of his life; and their mother is so neurotic that her whole personality is affected by his actions from day to day.

I've come to realize that I need help desperately, as it isn't natural for a woman to be so dependent upon her husband, that she can't treat her own children decently when he's out of sorts. Sometimes suicide seems my only out; but I realize this is only running away from something that must be faced. God would not uphold that; and it is only through prayer that I've kept going.

Wills To Become Able Parent

For 10 years now, our marriage hasn't even resembled a marriage. We have no hobbies or recreations shared by all of us. Needless to say, there have been exhibitions of mental and physical violence, separations, and the promises so characteristic of all alcoholics. Also financial difficulties.

What I really want to know is: Is there an agency close by, that might help me straighten myself out, so that I could come to a decision on other aspects of our problem. Are there books that might help me? I can't afford a psychiatrist and don't think there is one closer than 50 miles away. Thanking you in advance, I am, F. F.

Essential Aid Is Available

DEAR F. F.: You've addressed me through a newspaper in a certain city not too far from your home town. And in this city you will find a counseling agency known as the Family Service Association.

It happens that I've had an exchange of letters and a passing visit with staff members of this agency—which probably is one of the finest units of its kind in America. Its special virtue, in my opinion, is that it functions with heart and soul, not with knowing professional competence only, as some case-hardened welfare workers fall into the habit of doing.

To illustrate its hospitable concern to mend damaged lives, here is a comment made recently by the executive secretary: "We, each day, are trying to help the person who comes to us to use all of his inner strength and resources. We try also to help him keep or regain a sense of his own dignity and worth as an individual with individual problems and needs."

First Steps In Self-Help

So here is the comprehensive leadership and support you are going to need, in your courageous push to get straightened out, once and for all, for your children's sake. And now that you are in the mood, don't delay.

To make an appointment with the agency, and launch your self-help program, you might telephone long distance, or write a note to: "Executive Secretary, The Family Service Association, Name City."

Either approach will put you in touch, I should think—since a street address is hardly necessary in establishing mail or telephone contact with a widely known community service.

However, a local clergyman or librarian, or indeed any well posted "good neighbor," would help you track down this detail, if you must have it.

These Books Recommended

Now, about helpful reading: 1. As an aid in moving towards self-reliance, try Dr. Alexander Magoun's "Love and Marriage" (Harpers), a wonderfully wise, warm, interesting guide to growth. 2. To get an objective slant on Henry's alcoholism, try James Lamb Free's "Just One More, Concerning the Problem Drinker" (Coward-McCann publishers)—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of The Evening Times.

$5,000 Damage Suit Docketed

Suit for $5,000 damages was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday as the result of a fatal accident at Gilmore in November, 1955.

The suit was docketed by Attorney James S. Getty in the name of the State of Maryland to the use of Mrs. Bernadine K. Cuthbertson, mother and next friend of Mary Melva Cuthbertson, Gilmore, against Robert Scott Alexander of Midland.

The declaration states that Mary Melva Cuthbertson was struck by Alexander's car while walking toward the gate of her home along State Route 36. She died three days later.

Mrs. Cuthbertson contends that she has been deprived of the benefit and advantage of the services, assistance and earnings of her daughter and thereby has suffered pecuniary damages.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — (U) — There was a bit of sadness when the SS Matsonia left here on her last voyage.

Once queen of the Pacific tourist trade, the Matsonia carried thousands of troops in two world wars before being berthed with the idle fleet in the James River. The last voyage was to Baltimore where the Bethlehem Steel Corp. will junk her.

But enroute she passed at her birthplace, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, a new Matsonia under construction. The new ship will have room for 761 first class passengers when she enters the Hawaiian service June 11.

The U. S. National Guard was named in 1924 for the Garde National that Lafayette commanded in France. Lafayette was then visiting a regiment of the New York State Militia.

South could produce a stopper in clubs.

At that point South would realize that three no-trump would be out of the question. He would also know that he had very good diamonds and only one club. Assuming North had a good hand with nothing in clubs, five diamonds would be a cinch and six a possibility.

Over three hearts South should have bid five diamonds. At that point it would be up to North to go on to the slam if he felt like it. I believe that with his high cards represented by three aces and a king North might well have done so.

If he hadn't, at least his side would have shown a nice profit instead of the loss at three no-trump.

A San Francisco correspondent wants to know what went wrong with his bidding. He writes:

"I assume that my two diamond rebid were correct. Also there can be no question of my partner's one spade opening and two no-trump rebid. Was his three no-trump bid correct also? If so, should I have left it in or bid my diamonds a third time?"

You hold the same hand. Instead of bidding one no-trump your partner has bid three diamonds. What do you do?

Doctors Hear Specialist Talk On Heart

Normal Activities For Children Urged After Fever Attack

BALTIMORE (AP) — A heart specialist says children with rheumatic fever should be permitted normal physical activities after symptoms have cleared up, unless the heart is enlarged.

Dr. William D. Stroud, professor of cardiology at the University of Pennsylvania's graduate school of medicine, addressed the opening session of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty's annual meeting.

"Too many parents," said Dr. Stroud, "have been made unnecessarily miserable through apprehension, and too many children made psychic invalids because of restrictions placed upon their physical activities by physicians."

Meeting Closes Friday
Dr. Stroud cautioned that in all cases rheumatic activity must have ceased, and there must be no enlargement of the heart. He said normal sports activity does not speed up or intensify the progress of chronic rheumatic heart disease.

The faculty's 159th annual meeting, which opened yesterday, will close Friday with formal election of officers. Dr. J. Sheldon Eastland of Baltimore is the only nominee thus far to succeed Dr. C. Reid Edward of Baltimore as president.

Other nominations yesterday included:
Dr. Everett S. Diggs, Baltimore, as secretary, and as vice president, Dr. Archie Robert Cohen, Silver Spring; Dr. Alfred R. Marvanov, Cambridge, and Dr. Grant E. Ward, Baltimore.

Traffic Discussion
Dr. Russell H. Fisher, chief medical examiner of Maryland, presided last night at a panel discussion on traffic accident prevention.

Delegates voted to continue a committee established to study licensing of homeopathic physicians. It had been recommended that it be abolished.

Dr. Louis P. Gundry, secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners, said abolition of the committee would be premature because of current litigation revolving about the licensing of homeopathic physicians.

Dr. Robert H. Reddick, ousted as chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, is former secretary-treasurer of the Maryland State Homeopathic Society. Reddick is still fighting a prolonged legal battle with the State over licensing of homeopaths.

Deputy Denies Jail Loved By Prisoners

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A deputy sheriff says charges that prisoners in the Anne Arundel County Jail "love it there" are "asinine."

This was the opinion expressed by deputy Norman Alton after hearing of the charge made yesterday by Ralph J. Lowman, president of the Board of County Commissioners.

Lowman said "some (prisoners) even have keys to get in and out and are permitted to use county cars. They just love it there."

In a statement issued after hearing of Lowman's charges, the deputy said:

"The sheriff is out of town until Monday. The charges which I understand Mr. Lowman has made against him are so asinine it's hard for me to believe he could have made them."

Alton is the brother of Sheriff Joseph W. Alton Jr. The sheriff is a leader of county Republican forces while Lowman is a leader of a segment of the Democratic party.

Lowman made his charges in a discussion with Mrs. John Baldwin Rich of the county's League of Women Voters.

Court Rules Man Entitled To Increase

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Circuit Court judge has ruled that Daniel E. Klein, former chairman of the Employment Security Board, was entitled to a salary increase voted by the General Assembly.

Klein instituted the court action after he was ordered by the State comptroller to refund $3,639 in alleged overpayment during his term of office.

Klein was appointed in 1953 to complete the remainder of the six-year term of William H. Mahaney. During Mahaney's term the Legislature raised the salary of the ESB chairman from $7,500 to $10,000.

Mahaney did not receive the increase because of a constitutional prohibition against altering the salary of a public officer during his term of office.

The question presented to the court in the Klein case was whether the constitutional ban applied to an officer filling an unexpired term when the increase in salary arose prior to his appointment.

Judge James K. Cullen ruled yesterday that "the words 'his term in office' were used to connote the person holding the office rather than the particular term of the office itself."

Klein was chairman of the ESB until April, 1955, when he resigned.

Blaze Destroys Woodland West Of Frederick

FREDERICK (AP) — Forest fire destroyed about 20 acres of woodland near here yesterday before it was curbed by a fire trench and burned itself out.

Firemen said the blaze spread about three miles from the point of origin in the first hour, but no homes were threatened because of the wind direction.

The fire was in the Frederick watershed about seven miles northwest of the city. City employees and volunteers aided firemen from Frederick, Ft. Detrick and Walkersville to fight the flames.

Kent Early Settler Descendent Dies

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Eva Cray Brown, descendant of one of the earliest settlers of Kent Island, died in Easton Memorial Hospital yesterday. She was 78.

Mrs. Brown was a descendant of Dr. Richard Cray, a surgeon in the English Navy, who settled on the island in the 1790s. She was born at Kent Fort Manor on the southernmost tip of the island.

Following the coronation, hundreds of school students were to take part in the first presentation of "In All Generations," the festival pageant written and staged by Dr. Garland R. Quarles, superintendent of Winchester schools.

The firemen's parade, with radio star Ted Malone as marshal, and the Queen's Ball tonight will wind up the opening day's program.

Good Weather Prevails For Apple Event

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Fair skies and warm temperatures — and even a few apple blossoms — combined today to build up enthusiasm as Winchester prepared to crown the queen of the 30th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Anne Denise Doughty-Tichborne, 18-year-old English beauty, was scheduled to be crowned Queen Shenandoah XXX this afternoon.

To give an all-English flavor to the coronation—for this is the 350th anniversary year of the first permanent English settlement in America at Jamestown—festival officials invited Lord De La Warr, former British postmaster general, to place the crown on Miss Tichborne.

The firemen's parade, with radio star Ted Malone as marshal, and the Queen's Ball tonight will wind up the opening day's program.

General Jackson was given the name of "Stonewall" by Gen. Bernard E. Bee, in the first Battle of Bull Run.
